I. SUMMARY OF THE CASE

1. Over the past decade, Meta¹—itself and through its flagship Social Media Platforms Facebook and Instagram (its Social Media Platforms or Platforms)—has profoundly altered the psychological and social realities of a generation of young Americans. Meta has harnessed powerful and unprecedented technologies to entice, engage, and ultimately ensnare youth and teens. Its motive is profit, and in seeking to maximize its financial gains, Meta has repeatedly misled the public about the substantial dangers of its Social Media Platforms. It has concealed the ways in which these Platforms exploit and manipulate its most vulnerable consumers: teenagers and children.² And it has ignored the sweeping damage these Platforms have caused to the mental and physical health of our nation's youth. In doing so, Meta engaged in, and continues to engage in, deceptive and unlawful conduct in violation of state and federal law.

2. Meta's scheme involved four parts: (1) through its development of Instagram and Facebook, Meta created a business model focused on maximizing young users' time and attention spent on its Social Media Platforms; (2) Meta designed and deployed harmful and psychologically manipulative product features to induce young users' compulsive and extended Platform use, while falsely assuring the public that its features were safe and suitable for young users; (3)

, while routinely publishing misleading reports boasting a deceptively low incidence of user harms; and (4) despite overwhelming internal research, independent expert analysis, and publicly available data that its Social Media Platforms harm young users, Meta still refuses to abandon its use of known harmful features—and has instead redoubled its efforts to misrepresent, conceal, and downplay the impact of those features on young users' mental and physical health.

¹ The term "Meta" as used herein refers collectively to Defendants Meta Platforms, Inc.; Instagram, LLC; Meta Payments, Inc.; and Meta Platforms Technologies, LLC, unless otherwise specified.

² The term "young users" as used herein refers to users of Meta's Platforms who are under 18 years of age when using the Platform(s).

- 3. First, Meta's business model is based on maximizing the time that young users spend on its Social Media Platforms. Meta targets young users and incentivizes its employees to develop ways to increase the time that young users spend on its Platforms. The more time young users spend on Instagram and Facebook, the more Meta earns by selling advertising targeted to those users.
- 4. Second, consistent with this business model, Meta has developed and refined a set of psychologically manipulative Platform features designed to maximize young users' time spent on its Social Media Platforms. Meta was aware that young users' developing brains are particularly vulnerable to certain forms of manipulation, and it chose to exploit those vulnerabilities through targeted features such as: (a) dopamine-manipulating recommendation algorithms; (b) "Likes" and social comparison features known by Meta to harm young users; (c) audiovisual and haptic alerts that incessantly recall young users to Meta's Social Media Platforms while at school and during the night; (d) visual filter features known to promote young users' body dysmorphia; and (e) content-presentation formats, such as infinite scroll, designed to discourage young users' attempts to self-regulate and disengage with Meta's Platforms.
- 5. In promoting and marketing these features to young users, Meta deceptively represented that the features were not manipulative; that its Social Media Platforms were not designed to promote young users' prolonged and unhealthy engagement with social media; and that Meta had designed and maintained its Social Media Platforms to ensure safe experiences for young users. These representations, both express and implied, were false and misleading.
- 6. Third, to assuage public concerns about harms to young users on Meta's Social Media Platforms, Meta routinely published profoundly misleading reports purporting to show impressively low rates of negative and harmful experiences by users of its Platforms.

- 7. Fourth, despite the strong and well-researched links between young people's use of Meta's Social Media Platforms and psychological and physical harm, Meta has continued to conceal and downplay its Platforms' adverse effects. Research has shown that young people's use of Meta's Social Media Platforms is associated with depression, anxiety, insomnia, interference with education and daily life, and many other negative outcomes. Internal studies that Meta commissioned (which were kept private until they were leaked by a whistleblower) reveal that Meta has known for years about the serious harms associated with young users' time spent on its Social Media Platforms. Nonetheless, Meta has continued to deny and downplay these harmful effects to the public and to promote its Platforms as safe for young users.
- 8. Finally, Meta has also flouted its obligations under the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) by unlawfully collecting the personal data of its youngest users without their parents' permission. Meta has marketed and directed its Social Media Platforms to children under the age of 13 and has actual knowledge that those children use its Platforms. But Meta has refused to obtain (or even to attempt to obtain) the consent of those children's parents prior to collecting and monetizing their personal data.

Nonetheless, Meta refuses to limit its collection and use of those children's personal information as required by law.

- 9. These exploitative and harmful acts and practices by Meta are unlawful. They constitute unfair and/or deceptive acts or practices under the state consumer protection statutes, violate COPPA, and further constitute unlawful acts under common law principles.
- 10. Now, instead of acknowledging and remedying the harms associated with these unlawful practices, Meta appears to be expanding the use of these practices into new Platforms and domains. This includes, for example, Meta's Virtual Reality (VR) Metaverse, where young users are immersed into Meta's new Horizon Worlds platform; Meta's communication Platforms like WhatsApp and Messenger; and other products, in which Meta uses evolving technology to replicate the harmful strategies it honed through its experiments on the young users of Instagram and Facebook.

11. Arizona; the People of the State of California (California); Colorado; Connecticut; Delaware; Georgia; Hawai'i; Idaho; the People of the State of Illinois, by and through Attorney General Kwame Raoul (Illinois); Indiana; Kansas; Kentucky; Louisiana; Maine; Office of the Attorney General of Maryland (Maryland); Michigan; State of Minnesota, by its Attorney General, Keith Ellison (Minnesota); Missouri; Nebraska; Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General for the State of New Jersey, and Cari Fais, Acting Director of the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs (New Jersey); New York; North Carolina; North Dakota, ex rel. Drew H. Wrigley, Attorney General (North Dakota); Ohio; Oregon; Pennsylvania; Rhode Island; South Carolina; South Dakota; Virginia; Washington; West Virginia; and Wisconsin (collectively, the Filing States) seek to enjoin Meta's present and ongoing unlawful conduct that harms young users and obtain any other remedies provided for under state or federal laws.

II. PUBLIC INTEREST

12. This action is in the public interest of the Filing States. Meta has engaged in, and will continue to engage in, the unlawful acts and practices set forth below. Meta's unlawful acts and practices affect a significant number of consumers in the Filing States. These acts and practices have caused and will continue to cause adverse effects to consumers in the Filing States.

III. JURISDICTION, VENUE AND DIVISIONAL ASSIGNMENT

A. Jurisdiction

- 13. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the claims in this Complaint pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because they involve questions of federal law arising under COPPA, 15 U.S.C. § 6501 et seq.; 16 C.F.R. §§ 312.4, 312.5, 312.9. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the Filing States' state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a), as all claims alleged herein form part of the same case or controversy.
- 14. This Court has general personal jurisdiction over Meta because each Defendant's principal place of business is in California and each Defendant intentionally avails itself of the California market so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over it by courts in California consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice. Cal. Civ. Proc. Code

- This Court has personal jurisdiction over Meta for the Filing States' COPPA claims because all Defendants have their principal place of business in Menlo Park, a city in this District. 15 U.S.C. § 6504(e)(2).
- Meta conducts business in this District through itself or its subsidiaries over which it exercises complete dominion and control. Meta and its subsidiaries operate as a common enterprise while engaging in the unfair, deceptive, and other unlawful acts and practices alleged below. Because Meta and its subsidiaries have operated as a common enterprise, this Court has jurisdiction over each entity individually and collectively.

Venue

Venue is proper in the Northern District of California under 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because all Defendants reside in this District. All Defendants have their principal place of business in Menlo Park, a city in this District. Moreover, a substantial part of the unlawful conduct complained of herein occurred in this District, where Meta's headquarters is located.

Divisional Assignment.

This case is properly assigned to the Oakland or San Francisco Divisions because the civil action arises in substantial part from events or omissions in San Mateo County. Civil L.R. 3-2(d). All Defendants' principal places of business are located in Menlo Park, a city in San Mateo County, where Meta's conduct was controlled and directed.

IV. RELEVANT TIMES

Meta's conduct is in continuing violation of the laws supporting the claims for relief in this Complaint, beginning at a time unknown to the Filing States, but no later than 2012, and such claims have continuously accrued through the present. This action is timely brought pursuant to the parties' Tolling Agreement signed by Meta's counsel on July 18, 2022, which

1 tolls all claims ripe as of December 20, 2021. This action is also timely brought pursuant to any applicable state statutes.³ 2 3 V. PLAINTIFFS 20. 4 This action is brought by and through a coalition of the Filing States' Attorneys 5 General. 21. The Filing States bring this action pursuant to the authority conferred on the State 6 7 Attorneys General by applicable federal and state law. The Attorneys General of the Filing States 8 are authorized by COPPA to bring actions to enforce COPPA's provisions. 15 U.S.C. 9 § 6504(a)(1). Pursuant to 15 U.S.C § 6504(a)(2), the Filing States notified the Federal Trade 10 Commission (FTC) of this action. The Attorneys General are also authorized by their respective 11 states' Unfair and Deceptive Acts and Practices statutes (UDAP Statutes) to enforce such statutes. ⁴ These state laws authorize the states to seek injunctive and other equitable relief, as well 12 13 as, in some states, restitution, civil penalties, declaratory relief, attorneys' fees, expenses, and 14 costs. VI. 15 DEFENDANTS 22. The Defendants in this action include Meta Platforms, Inc. (Meta Platforms), 16 17 Instagram, LLC (Instagram), Meta Payments, Inc. - 23. Defendant Meta Platforms is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Menlo Park, California. As relevant here, Meta Platforms, through itself or its subsidiaries, develops, markets, and operates Social Media Platforms and other internet-based Platforms and products including Facebook, Instagram, Messenger, and WhatsApp. Meta also develops, markets, and operates the VR Social Media Platform Horizon Worlds.
- 24. Meta Platforms transacts or has transacted business in this District, the Filing States, and throughout the United States. At all times material to this Complaint, acting alone or in concert with its subsidiaries (identified below), Meta Platforms has advertised, marketed, and distributed its Social Media Platforms to consumers throughout the United States.
- 25. Meta Platforms was formerly known as Facebook, Inc. until it changed its corporate name in October 2021. In 2004, Mark Zuckerberg founded the Social Media Platform The Facebook, while a student at Harvard University. At that time, Myspace was popular, along with websites like Friendster and Flickr. The Facebook spread among colleges via word of mouth and exclusive invitations and became more popular among young adults. Zuckerberg dropped out of Harvard to develop the Platform into a company, and it became known as Facebook.
- 26. Facebook's popularity not only grew—it changed the entire landscape of the internet. In 2004, only 5% of U.S. adults used any social media platform. As of 2021, 69% of U.S. adults used Facebook alone.
- 27. Following the success of Facebook, Meta Platforms expanded through a series of acquisitions. On April 9, 2012, Meta Platforms purchased Instagram reportedly for $1 billion. Meta Platforms acquired Instagram in part because it believed that if Instagram grew to a large scale, it could be very disruptive to Facebook.
- 28. More importantly, Instagram was most popular among young users—a market where Meta was seeking to expand as Facebook's primary audience aged and the Platform lost its "cool" factor.
- 29. By the end of 2016, Instagram grew to over 600 million users. By 2018, Instagram had revenues surpassing $10 billion, and it has been estimated to be valued at over $100 billion. An estimated 62% of teens in the United States regularly use Instagram.

- 30. Meta Platforms has also expanded into virtual reality gaming, hardware, and software, since acquiring the virtual reality headset creator Oculus in 2014.
- 31. In October 2021, Facebook rebranded the company to "Meta," a move meant to encapsulate that its subsidiaries and products went beyond the Facebook Platform and to emphasize its work on the so-called "metaverse."
- 32. As a result of acquisitions such as Instagram and Oculus, Meta Platforms has continued to dominate the market of Social Media Platforms and apps, becoming the largest social media company in the world. As of October 2023, Meta Platforms' market capitalization—the value of the company—exceeded $800 billion.
- 33. At all times material to this Complaint, Meta Platforms formulated, directed, controlled, had the authority to control, or participated in the acts and practices set forth in this Complaint.
- 34. Defendant Meta Platforms currently operates its business primarily through its subsidiaries. Meta Platforms' key subsidiaries include Instagram, Meta Payments, and Meta Platforms Technologies.
- 35. Defendant Instagram offers a mobile application that enables users to share content such as photographs and videos online and over social networks. Instagram is a limited liability company formed in Delaware, and shares its principal place of business in Menlo Park, California, with Meta Platforms. Defendant Meta Platforms is the sole member or manager of Instagram.
- 36. Defendant Meta Payments is incorporated in the State of Florida and shares its principal place of business in Menlo Park, California, with Meta Platforms. Meta Payments processes payments made through Meta's Social Media Platforms. Meta Platforms directly owns Meta Payments, its subsidiary.
- 37. Defendant Meta Technologies is a Delaware limited liability company and shares its principal place of business in Menlo Park, California, with Meta Platforms. Previously known as Facebook Technologies, LLC, Meta Technologies has absorbed Meta's Oculus business segment, which it acquired in 2014. Meta Technologies develops Meta's virtual reality technology. Defendant Meta Platforms is the sole member or manager of Meta Technologies.

- 38. As detailed in the allegations below, Meta Platforms, itself and through its Defendant subsidiaries over which it exercises authority and control (collectively, Meta), has engaged in, and continues to engage in, unfair, deceptive, and unlawful activity in the Filing States and in this District.
- 39. Meta operates as a common enterprise. All Defendants have their principal place of business at Meta Platforms' corporate headquarters in Menlo Park, California. As discussed below, senior executives at Meta Platforms, including Zuckerberg—Meta Platforms' CEO, board chair, and controlling shareholder—exercise control over important policy and staffing decisions relating to its Social Media Platforms.
- 40. Meta also represents itself as a common enterprise. Meta's financial disclosures describe Facebook, Instagram, Messenger, and WhatsApp, as Meta's "family of products," and report revenue and expenses for the entire "family" together. Instagram's Terms of Use agreement currently identifies "The Instagram Service" as "one of the Meta Products, provided to you by Meta Platforms, Inc." Meta's supplemental terms of service for its "Meta Platforms Technologies Products" is similarly styled as an agreement between Meta Platforms and the user. "Meta Platforms Technologies Products" are defined to include its VR-related products, such as its Meta Quest and Oculus virtual reality headsets, and Meta Horizon Worlds, its virtual reality Social Media Platform. Meta Platforms also reports its revenue from its VR business segment in its financial disclosures.
- 41. Meta's corporate website represents the leaders of its subsidiaries as Meta's "executives" alongside Zuckerberg and other Meta Platforms executives. For example, Adam Mosseri is identified as "Head of Instagram" and is described as having "been at Meta" for more than 11 years. Stephane Kasriel, the CEO of Meta Payments, is identified on Meta's website as "the head of Commerce and Financial Technologies at Meta" who "oversees all commerce and fintech work across Meta's technologies and platforms."

- 48. Meta provides tools for businesses to advertise on its Platforms. Meta's "Campaign Ideas Generator" provides "campaign ideas, pre-made assets, and resources that are specific to your small business needs."
- 49. Meta provides other features and tools so that it and its users can generate revenue and engage in commerce. For example, the Instagram Shopping feature allows small businesses and global brands alike to advertise and sell goods, which users can purchase directly through the Instagram Platform.
- 50. Meta encourages and provides tools for users to engage in commerce themselves. Meta's creator monetization tools, for example, allow users to make money through Instagram and Facebook. Meta has also signaled that it is testing creator monetization tools on its Horizon Worlds Platform.
- 51. Meta also allows direct advertising by users on its Instagram Platform. In November 2013, Meta created "Sponsored Posts," where Instagram users could use posts in their "Feed" to promote a specific product. As a result, many Instagram users (including young users) became "influencers," compensated by advertisers for promoting a product through their posts.
- 52. In addition, in approximately June 2023, Meta began offering Meta Verified to Instagram and Facebook account holders within the United States. Account holders can purchase a Meta Verified subscription bundle that includes account verification with impersonation protections and access to increased visibility and support. Meta Verified is available on Instagram and Facebook for a monthly fee of $11.99 when a user subscribes from the web (Facebook account holders only) and $14.99 when a user subscribes in the Instagram or Meta apps.

VIII. META'S SCHEME TO EXPLOIT YOUNG USERS FOR PROFIT

53. Meta has exploited young users of its Social Media Platforms, including by:
(1) creating a business model focused on maximizing young users' time on its Platforms;
(2) employing harmful and psychologically manipulative Platform features while misleading the public about the safety of those features; (3) publishing misleading reports purporting to show low rates of user harms; and (4) in spite of the overwhelming evidence linking its Social Media

Platforms to young user harms, refusing to address those harms while continuing to conceal and downplay its Platforms' adverse effects.

- A. To maximize profit, Meta's business model focuses on increasing young users' engagement.
 - 1. Meta monetizes young users' attention through data harvesting and targeted advertising.
- 54. Meta's core business model across its Social Media Platforms is monetizing user information and attention by increasing engagement, otherwise known as time spent, on its Platforms. Meta is constantly striving to sustain and increase user engagement on its Platforms so that it can sell more and better advertising opportunities to paying advertisers.
- 55. Meta generates most of its revenue from advertisers, who are able to use targeted advertising based on the personal data Meta collects for each user. As Meta's CFO David Wehner indicated in a January 2019 earnings call:

In terms of our ability to continue to grow the advertising business, it's about working to develop the best—the best products we can to enable advertisers to achieve their end business results. Targeting obviously very is [sic] important in that.

56. When Meta succeeds in maintaining a user's interest through its recommendation algorithms—thus keeping the user on a Platform for a longer time—Meta can collect more data on the user and serve the user more advertisements.

58. Increasing the time spent on Meta's Platforms increases the effective delivery of targeted ads—a pivotal factor in Meta's ability to generate revenue. In an April 2019 earnings call, Meta's CFO noted, "we're relying on continuing to improve targeting. And so you've got—the risk there is of course the headwinds that we talked about on the ad targeting front and how that will play into U.S. growth as well."

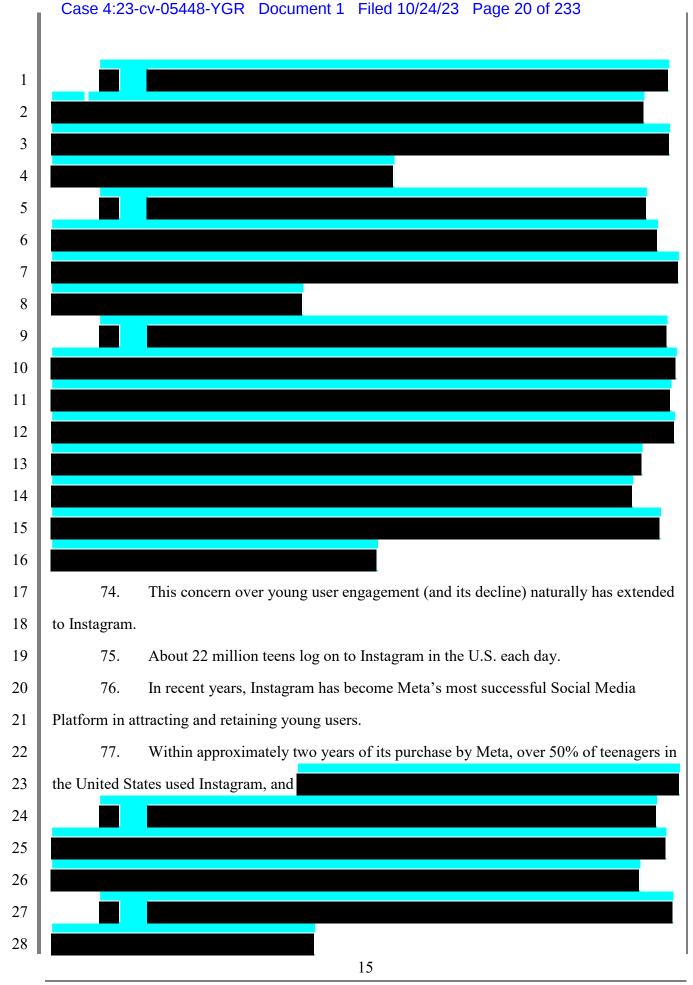

- 61. Advertisers do not have long-term commitments to Meta's Platforms.

 Accordingly, Meta must continue to deliver ads in an effective manner to retain paying advertisers and maintain and increase its revenue.
- 62. Meta has emphasized ad effectiveness as a top priority for future growth. As then-Chief Operating Officer Sheryl Sandberg told investors on a 2019 earnings call, "[o]ver time our systems will do a better job deciding where your ads should be placed and even helping you target. And so you're seeing us build tools in that direction as well."
- 63. As Meta noted in its 2021 Annual Report to the SEC, "[t]he size of our user base and our users' level of engagement across our products are critical to our success." It noted that factors affecting Meta's revenue generation include (1) "user engagement, including time spent on [Meta's] products"; (2) increasing "user access to and engagement with [Meta's] products"; (3) Meta's ability "to maintain or increase the quantity or quality of ads shown to users"; (4) maintaining traffic to monetized features like the "Feed" and "Stories"; (5) the "effectiveness of [Meta's] ad targeting"; and (6) the degree to which users engage with Meta's ads.
- 64. Meta's Recommendation Algorithms were designed with its business purpose in mind, namely, to capture users' attention and keep them engaged on the Platforms.
- 65. These algorithms do not promote any specific message by Meta. Rather, the algorithms function on a user-by-user basis, detecting the material each individual is likely to engage with and then increasingly displaying similar material to maximize the time spent (and user data collected) on the Platforms.

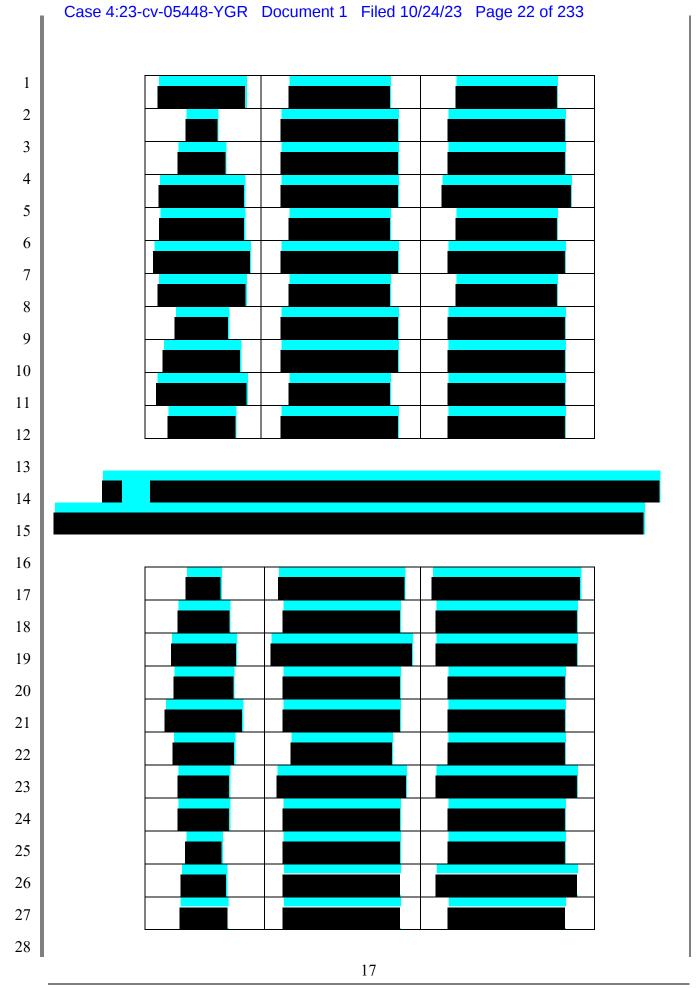

67. Meta's algorithms apply not only to material generated by users but also to advertisements. As Sandberg expressed in a 2019 earnings call, "[a]cross all of our platforms and formats, we're investing in AI [artificial intelligence] to make ads more relevant and effective. In Q4, we developed new AI ranking models to help people see ads they're more likely to be interested in."

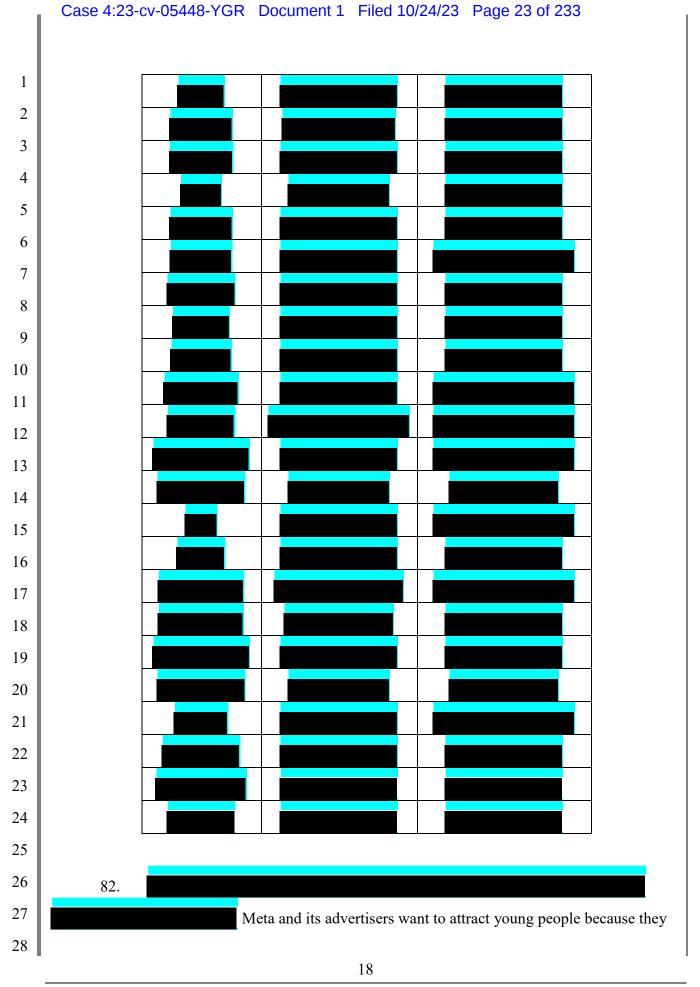

2. Meta specifically targets young users.

Meta is financially motivated to attract and retain young users on its Social Media 68. Platforms and has been for many years. ⁶ Meta's Drebbel team, formerly known as the Rabbithole team, focuses on the concept of "preference amplification"—in laymen's terms, "going down a content rabbit hole"—within Meta's Platforms.

are more likely to: (1) be influenced by advertisements; (2) become lifelong customers; and (3) set trends that the rest of society emulates. To draw young people into its ecosystem and keep them coming back, Meta employs technologies designed to maximize young users' time on, and engagement with, its Social Media Platforms.

- 85. But externally, Meta has denied that it places a monetary value on young users. On September 30, 2021, at a Senate subcommittee hearing, Senator Amy Klobuchar asked Meta executive Antigone Davis what Meta believed the lifetime monetary value of young users was; Davis responded, "[t]hat's just not the way we think about [it]." Davis also denied that Meta "considered the profit value of developing products when [Meta] make[s] their decisions of how those products look," testifying that this would be a "terrible business model."
 - 3. Meta designs and deploys features to capture young users' attention and prolong their time on its Social Media Platforms.
- 86. Acquiring young users helps secure Meta's profit stream over time. By capturing users' attention and engagement when they are young, Meta ensures future engagement and monetization as those young users grow up.

- 87. Meta thus develops and implements features to attract young users and keep them engaged on its Social Media Platforms for as long as possible. These features include: engagement-based (as opposed to chronological) feeds; infinite scroll; push notifications; ephemeral content; and video-based content.
- 88. Meta had originally displayed content on a user's "Feed" chronologically, i.e., in the order the content was posted by people the user elected to follow. Meta moved from chronological Feeds to engagement-based Feeds in 2009 (for Facebook) and 2016 (for Instagram).
- 89. The engagement-based Feed is different and alters the users' experience. It algorithmically presents material to users based on several engagement components: posts with more "Likes," comments, and other indicia of user engagement are displayed to users first.
- 90. This change was designed to prioritize material most likely to engage users for longer periods of time.
 - 91. In the fall of 2016, Instagram debuted its infinite scroll system.
- 92. Infinite scroll is characterized by the partial display of additional content at the bottom of the user's screen, such that the user is typically unable to look at a single post in isolation (without seeing the top portion of the next post in their Feed).
- 93. The "teasing" of yet-to-be-viewed content continues indefinitely; as the user scrolls down the Feed, new content is automatically loaded and "teased."
- 94. This "teasing" feature is intended to keep young users of the Platform engaged and continuing to scroll to the new content.
- 95. In April 2015, Meta introduced a variety of "push notifications" to Instagram.

 Push notifications are auditory and visual cues to alert users when accounts they follow add new content.
- 96. Push notifications allowed Instagram to draw its users back to the Platform at any time of day.

- 97. Meta also sought to increase engagement through making certain content available to users only temporarily—with notifications and visual design cues indicating that the content would soon disappear forever (ephemeral content).
- 98. Ephemeral content leads young users to more frequently open Meta's Social Media Platforms so they do not "miss out" on any new content. This phenomenon is called "Fear of Missing Out," or "FOMO." Meta designed ephemeral content features in its Social Media Platforms to induce this sense of FOMO in young users.
- 99. For example, on August 2, 2016, Meta introduced a feature to Instagram designed to show images and narratives for only a short amount of time before disappearing, known as the "Stories" feature. Meta released a similar feature to Facebook in 2017.

- 102. Another example is "Live," which gives users the ability to livestream videos to followers or the public.
- 103. Meta launched Facebook Live on a limited basis to celebrities and other high-profile users in August 2015, with the feature being available to all users by April 2016.

 Instagram soon followed in November 2016.
- 104. Live allows users to create video content in real time that their followers can watch and react to, often called "going Live."
 - 105. When an account goes Live, the Instagram Platform sends out a notification.

107. In addition to video-streaming offered through the Live feature, Meta has also designed and implemented several video features, including "IGTV," "Instagram Video," and is one of the main reasons why social media users repeatedly check their screens. Social media sites are 'chock-ablock' with unpredictable rewards. Habitual social media users never know if their next message or notification will be the one that makes them feel really good. In short, random rewards keep individuals responding for longer and has been found in other activities such as the playing of slot machines and video games. ⁹

- 158. Because they do not work in a predictable pattern, these "variable reinforcement schedules" trigger a release of dopamine, a neurotransmitter released by the brain in response to certain stimuli. Dopamine, commonly "seen to be the 'pleasure chemical," is released in anticipation of a potential reward. However, dopamine neurons fire for only a relatively short period of time, and after dopamine is released, an "individual can become disheartened and disengaged." 10
- 159. As researchers Rasan Burhan and Jalal Moradzadeh explain, the variable reinforcement schedules baked into social media platforms like Instagram can lead to "addiction with dopamine implicated":

[T]he user can be kept in a loop. Essentially, that's how the social media apps exploit these innate systems. The way this comes about is through a term referred to as Variable Reward Schedules. This works by positive stimuli being provided at random intervals. By users checking their phones for notifications and updates at periodic intervals for something that could be intrinsically rewarding. Most of the time it's a neutral stimuli, but on occasion there may be a positive stimuli leading to the rewarding dopamine release hence keeping the user in the feedback loop.¹¹ maximize time spent on its Platforms. Meta did not disclose that its algorithms were designed to capitalize on young users' dopamine responses and create an addictive cycle of engagement.

- 166. Second, Meta uses data harvested from its users to target user engagement on an individual level via its Recommendation Algorithms—making continued engagement even more difficult for young users to resist.
- 167. In a June 8, 2021 public blog post on Instagram's website, Mosseri stated that Meta collects and supplies its Recommendation Algorithms with thousands of "signals" across Instagram's Feed and Stories, including "[y]our activity" and "[y]our history of interacting with someone." Mosseri's post explained that the collection of "[y]our activity . . . helps us understand what you might be interested in . . ." and the collection of "[y]our history of interacting with someone . . . gives us a sense of how interested you are generally in seeing posts from a particular person."
- 168. Similarly, Facebook's Vice President of Global Affairs wrote in Medium on March 31, 2021, about Facebook's Recommendation Algorithms: "The goal is to make sure you see what you find most meaningful—not to keep you glued to your smartphone for hours on end. You can think about this sort of like a spam filter in your inbox: it helps filter out content you won't find meaningful or relevant, and prioritizes content you will."
- 169. Likewise, Meta's terms of service on data collection state that Meta uses user data to "[p]rovide, personalize and improve our Products," "[p]rovide measurement, analytics, and other business services," "[p]romote safety, integrity and security," "[c]ommunicate with you," and "[r]esearch and innovate for social good."
- 170. In reality, though, Meta tracks and logs the behavior of millions of young users and utilizes that data to refine and strengthen the features that induce young users' compulsive Social Media Platform use.
- 171. As young users engage with Meta's Social Media Platforms, they are unwittingly training Meta's Recommendation Algorithms to provide the particular flow of content, notifications, and features that will most effectively keep them online.

- 172. Again, Meta does not disclose to consumers that it is weaponizing young users' data to capture and keep their attention.
- 173. Meta admits in its Privacy Policy that it uses data provided by its young users for purposes other than facilitating meaningful social experiences, such as "improv[ing] our Products . . . includ[ing] personalizing features, content and recommendations, such as your Facebook Feed, Instagram feed, Stories, and ads."
- 174. This includes using young users' data to "[t]est out new products and features to see if they work" and to "[g]et feedback on our ideas for products or features."
- 175. But Meta's representations about its Recommendation Algorithms do not effectively apprise young users of the reality that Meta is harvesting vast amounts of personal data to train its Recommendation Algorithms to induce them to keep using the Platforms.
- 176. Third, the Recommendation Algorithms increase young users' engagement by periodically presenting those users with psychologically and emotionally gripping content, including content related to eating disorders, violent content, content encouraging negative self-perception and body image issues, bullying content, and other categories of content known by Meta to provoke intense reactions.
- 177. Meta's Recommendation Algorithms are optimized to promote user engagement. Serving harmful or disturbing content has been shown to keep young users on the Platforms longer. Accordingly, the Recommendation Algorithms predictably and routinely present young users with psychologically and emotionally distressing content that induces them to spend increased time on the Social Media Platforms. And, once a user has interacted with such harmful content, the Recommendation Algorithm feeds that user additional similar content.

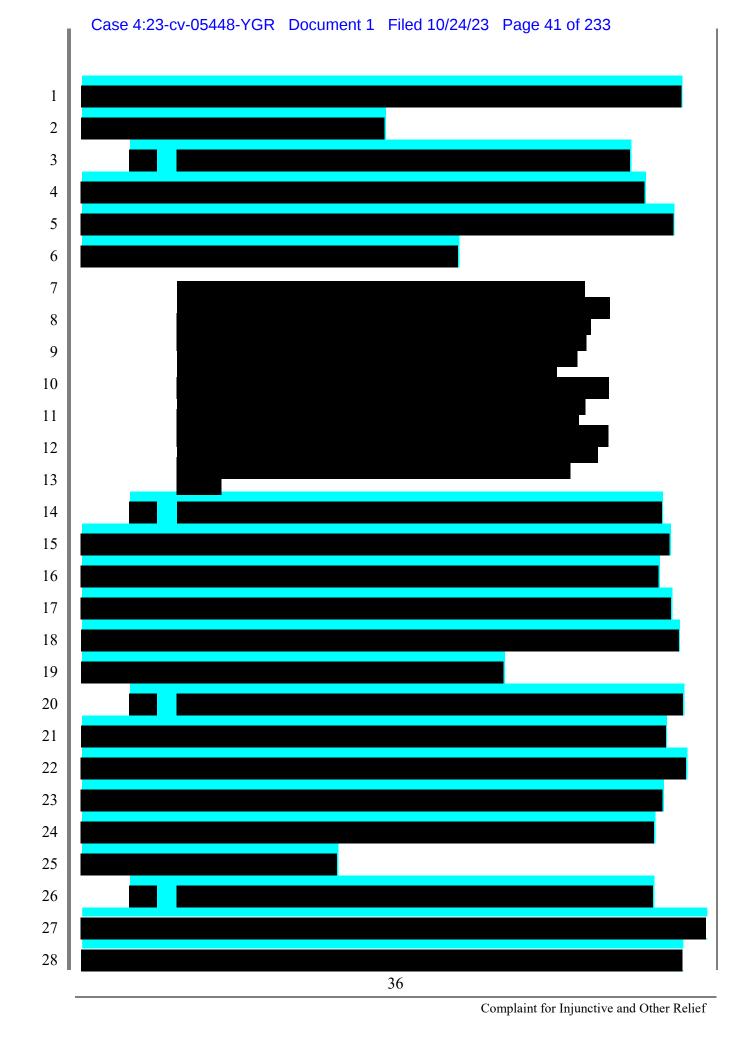

- 187. Likewise, in a June 8, 2021 post on the Instagram website, titled "Shedding More Light on How Instagram Works," Mosseri describes Meta's Recommendation Algorithms by providing examples of benign content recommendations (e.g., "if you're interested in dumplings you might see posts about related topics, like gyoza and dim sum . . ."). The post provides no accompanying examples or warnings disclosing that the Recommendation Algorithms also tend to suggest content that is dangerous or harmful for young users.
- 188. The Instagram website also boasts that "[a]t Instagram, we have guidelines that govern what content we recommend to people" and specifies that Instagram "avoid[s] making recommendations that may be inappropriate for younger viewers We use technology to detect both content and accounts that don't meet these Recommendations Guidelines and to help us avoid recommending them. As always, content that goes against our Community Guidelines will be removed from Instagram."
- 189. A parent or young user encountering these and similar communications by Meta could reasonably understand Meta to be representing that its Recommendation Algorithms do not promote content to young users that violates Meta's Recommendation Guidelines or is otherwise dangerous or inappropriate for young users.
- 190. But as explained above, Meta does increase young users' engagement with its Platforms by periodically presenting them with psychologically and emotionally gripping content, including content related to eating disorders, violent content, content encouraging negative self-perception and body image issues, bullying content, and other categories of content known by Meta to provoke intense reactions from users.
 - 4. The Recommendation Algorithms are harmful to young users' mental health, notwithstanding Meta's representations to the contrary.
- 191. Meta falsely represents that its Recommendation Algorithms are benign and designed for young users' well-being. For example, during a congressional hearing on March 25,

2021, Zuckerberg denied that Meta "make[s] money off creating an addiction to [its] platforms." At the same hearing, Zuckerberg stated that "the way we design our algorithms is to encourage meaningful social interactions" and denied that Meta's teams "have goals[] of trying to increase the amount of time that people spend [using Meta's Platforms]."

- 192. Elsewhere, Meta has reiterated that its Recommendation Algorithms are optimized to yield "positive experience[s]" or "meaningful interactions" as opposed to maximizing "time spent" by users on the Platforms. For example, on September 30, 2021, Davis testified before Congress that Meta "made changes to our News Feed to allow for more meaningful interactions, knowing it would impact time spent" and that Meta did this "because we were trying to build a positive, more positive experience."
- 193. But as described above, the Recommendation Algorithms are far from benign: they promote young users' compulsive social media use in a sophisticated and individualized manner and are designed to capture and retain young users' attention—often to the detriment of their mental and physical health.

194. These harms are pervasive and often measurable.

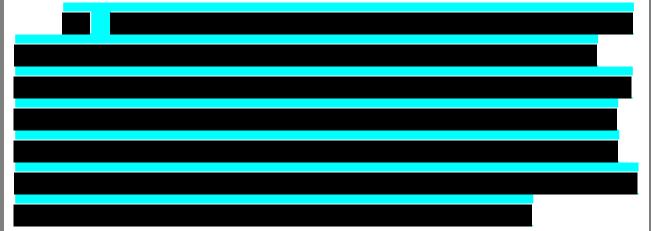

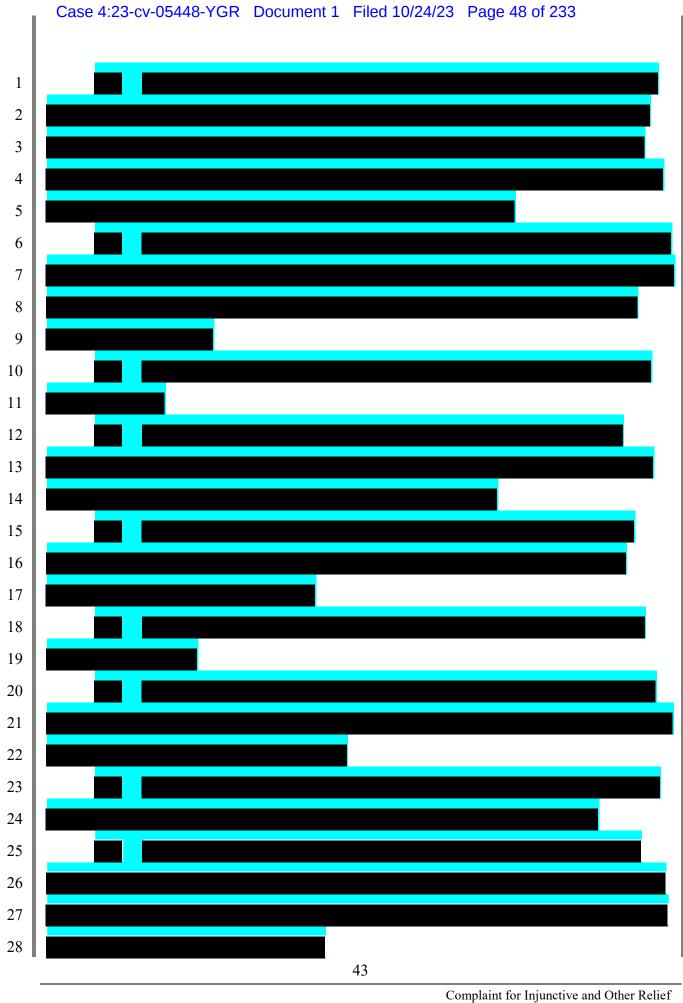

promote harmful content, and is aware that users "wish[] Instagram [gave] them better control over what [content] they [see]."

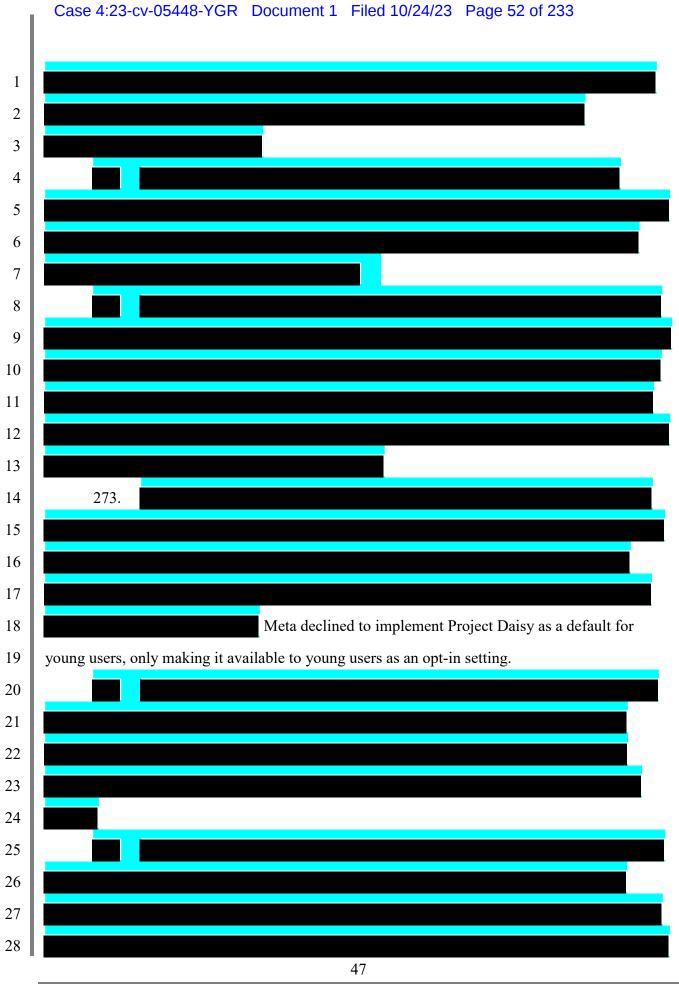

- 222. At the same time Meta was prioritizing engagement over safety (and in turn, increasing its profits), Meta continued to insist that user well-being (especially teen well-being) was its top priority, including through a January 2018 statement by Zuckerberg that the company was "focused on making sure Facebook isn't just fun to use, but also good for people's wellbeing," as reported by the Guardian.
- 223. For example, on October 5, 2021, Zuckerberg reacted to former Facebook product manager Frances Haugen's whistleblower revelations and testimony to Congress—which sent Meta's stock price down over 10% in the six weeks following the initial revelations—by publicly stating in a post on his Facebook profile: "At the heart of these accusations is this idea that we prioritize profit over safety and well-being. That's just not true."
- 224. Despite its knowledge that Meta's Recommendation Algorithms harm young users' health, Meta does not disclose these harms to young users or their parents in its public communications or in its user registration processes for its Social Media Platforms.
- 225. Meta denies that its Recommendation Algorithms are designed to be addictive and that the algorithms promote emotionally distressing content, but Meta knows that it designs its algorithms to be addictive and to promote such content. Meta's misrepresentations and omissions regarding its Recommendation Algorithms' promotion and amplification of harmful content deprives users, including the parents of young users, of informed decision-making authority regarding whether and how to engage with Meta's Social Media Platforms.

11	Although not as intense as [a] hit of cocaine, positive social stimuli will similarly result in a release of dopamine, reinforcing whatever
12	behavior preceded it Every notification, whether it's a text message, a "like" on Instagram, or a Facebook notification, has the
13	potential to be a positive social stimulus and dopamine influx. 13

15	throughout the day and at night when prompted to do so by the alerts and notifications they
16	receive from Instagram on their smartphones.
17	315. By sending notifications to young users, Meta causes young users' smartphones to
18	produce audiovisual and haptic alerts that distract from and interfere with young users' education
19	and sleep.
20	316. Meta defaults young users into receiving notifications on Instagram and Facebook,
21
23	317. While users can technically disable notifications, Meta knows that requiring users
24	to opt out of receiving notifications greatly reduces the likelihood that they will do so.

325. Even so, Instagram does not offer users a setting to permanently disable all notifications on Instagram at once. At most, users can opt to pause all notifications for up to 8 hours at a time. Users seeking to permanently disable all notifications must disable each category of notifications one by one.

326. After users disable notifications, Meta pressures such users to reinstate notifications when they use Instagram. For example, Meta periodically sends a user the below nudge message after a user disables notifications on their smartphone and subsequently logs onto Instagram through a web browser:

327. Upon information and belief, the wording of the "Turn On" and "Not Now" options is designed to pressure users, including young users, to revert to the default notification settings even after they have attempted to disengage from Instagram by turning those notifications off.

- 329. Through notifications and other features, Meta's Social Media Platforms are designed to maximize user time, addict and re-addict users (including young users), and effectively mandate that a user's experience is on Meta's revenue-maximizing terms, even when users attempt to modify their own behavior to reduce the time they spend on Instagram.
- Publicly, Meta touts its Social Media Platforms' time management "tools," 330. creating the misleading impression that Meta's Social Media Platforms are designed to empower users' efforts to self-limit the duration and frequency of their social media use.
- For example, on August 1, 2018, Meta published a post online titled "New Time Management Tools on Instagram and Facebook" that described "new tools to help people manage their time on Instagram and Facebook" because Meta purportedly "want[s] the time people spend on Instagram and Facebook to be intentional, positive and inspiring."
- Meta's public representations concerning its time management tools are deceptive 332. in light of Meta's choice to default users, including young users, into a barrage of smartphone alerts that incessantly recall them to the Social Media Platforms and then pressure young users to revert to those defaults when they attempt to opt out.
 - 7. Meta promotes Platform features such as visual filters known to promote eating disorders and body dysmorphia in youth.
- 333. As referenced above, Meta also deceives the public by representing in its public communications that its Social Media Platforms do not allow content that promotes or encourages eating disorders—all while actively choosing to retain Platform features known by Meta to promote those very disorders, despite expert warnings about the resulting harms to young users.
- For example, on September 30, 2021, Meta executive Davis denied that Meta promotes harmful information, such as information that promotes eating disorders, when testifying before Congress, stating: "[w]e do not direct people towards content that promotes eating disorders. That actually violates our policies, and we remove that content when we become aware of it. We actually use AI to find content like that and remove it."

335. Davis also testified that for teen girls struggling with "loneliness, anxiety, sadness, and eating disorders," they "were more likely to say that Instagram was affirmatively helping them, not making it worse."

336. Davis also testified that Instagram "work[s] with experts to help inform our product and policies" around eating disorders. Meta publishes this same statement in a section devoted to "[e]ating disorders" and "negative body image" in its "parent and guardian's guide to Instagram," which it makes available on its website.

Generally, and as described above, Meta falsely represents to the public that Meta 337. does not prioritize user engagement or Meta's profits over young users' safety.

9. Through its Platform features, Meta discourages young users' attempts to disengage, notwithstanding Meta's representations to the contrary.

- 373. Meta employs design features, including but not limited to infinite scroll, autoplay, push notifications, and ephemeral content, that work to override young users' attempts to disengage from Meta's Social Media Platforms. These tactics, which are wholly within Meta's control, make it difficult for young users to cease engagement with Meta's Platforms—independent of the content with which the users interact.
- 374. Meta has long denied that its Social Media Platforms are designed to be addictive. In July 2018, Meta told the BBC that "at no stage does wanting something to be addictive factor into" the design process for its Platforms.
- 375. On September 30, 2021, Davis testified before Congress that Meta does not build its Platforms to be addictive and disputed the addictive nature of Meta's Platforms.
- 376. However, through its design features, Meta ensures that young users struggle to disengage from its Social Media Platforms.
- 377. The infinite scroll system, for example, makes it difficult for young users to disengage because there is no natural end point for the display of new information. The Platforms do not stop displaying new information when a user has viewed all new posts from their peers. Instead, the Platform displays new content and suggests relevant information that has yet to be viewed, provoking the young users' FOMO.
- 378. As the inventor of infinite scroll noted about the feature's addictive qualities, "[i]f you don't give your brain time to catch up with your impulses . . . you just keep scrolling."
- 379. Meta also deploys the autoplay feature to keep young users engaged on its Platforms.

389. Meta designed ephemeral content features in its Social Media Platforms, such as Stories or Live, to induce a sense of FOMO in young users.

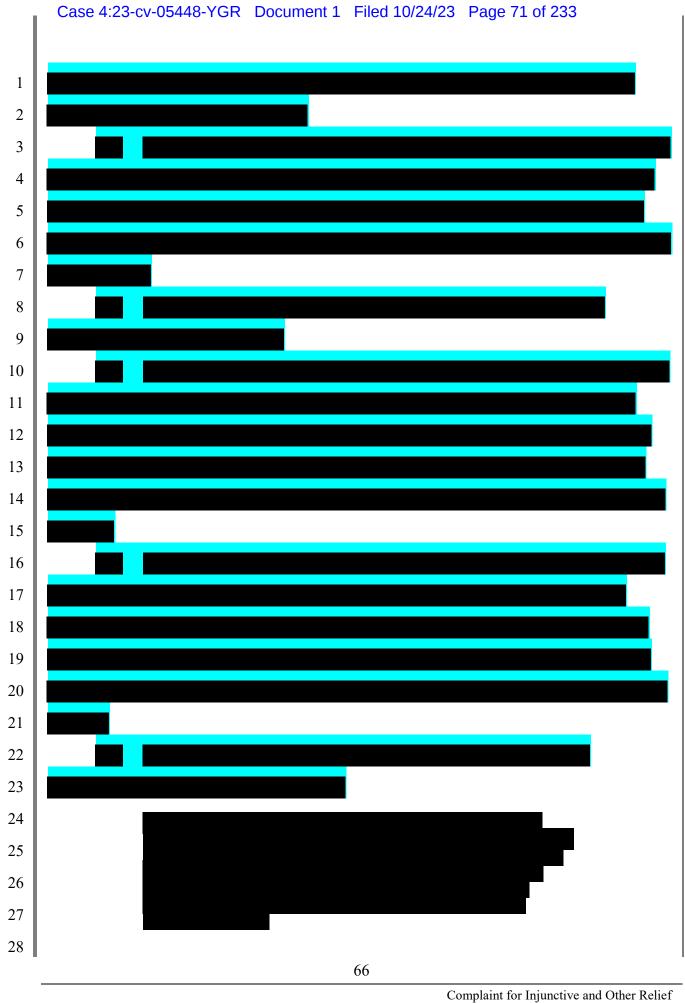

390. Unlike content delivery systems which permit a user to view existing posts on a schedule convenient for the user, content released through Live is only available in real-time—such that a young user's failure to quickly join the livestream when it begins means that the user will miss out on the chance to view the content entirely.

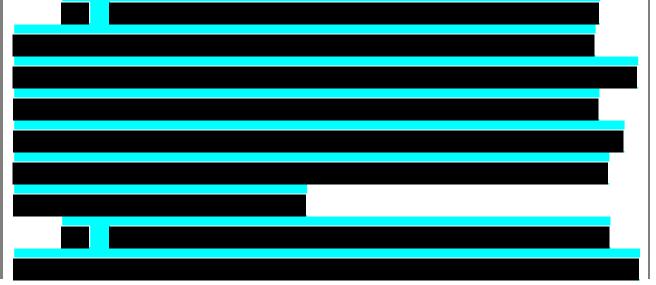

393. Meta could make Live videos and Stories available for viewing days or weeks after they are created; instead, Meta chooses to use ephemeral content features to induce in its young users a sense of urgency or FOMO.

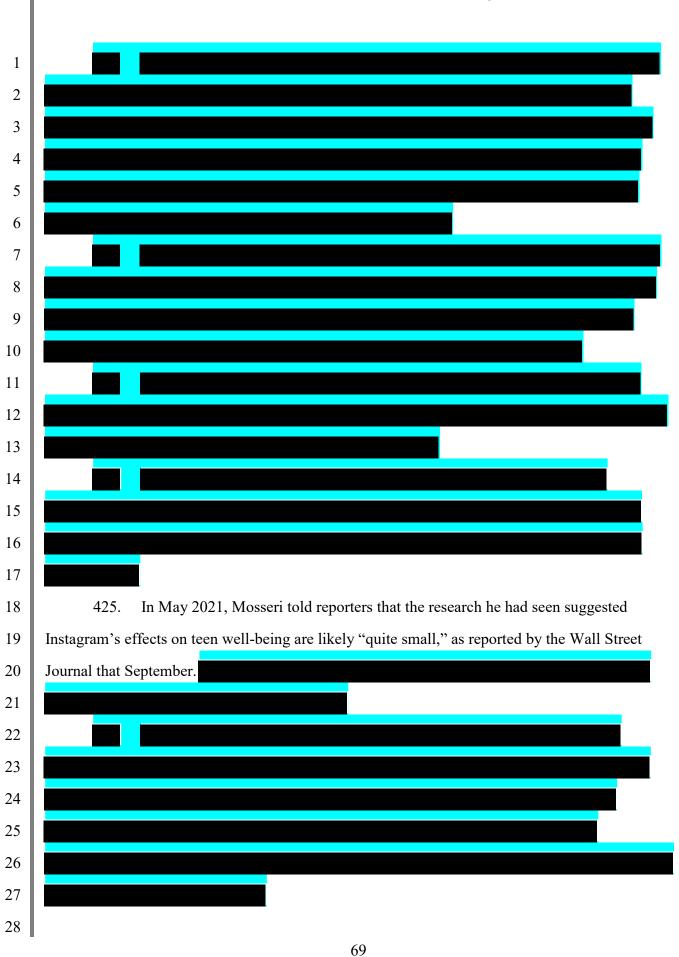

394. Meta similarly designs its Messenger Platform with ephemeral content features: for example, users can enable Vanishing Mode in which messages disappear when the user exits that mode.

396. An October 2019 internal presentation entitled "Teen Mental Health Deep Div discussed the findings from a survey of over 2,500 teenagers who use Instagram on at least a monthly basis.
397. Among the researchers' conclusions was the finding that "[y]oung people are acutely aware that Instagram can be bad for their mental health, yet are compelled to spend to on the app for fear of missing out on cultural and social trends."
398. Other Meta documents acknowledge this problem, noting that over half of Instagram's teen users report struggling with FOMO.
401. Meta's use of ephemeral content features to cultivate FOMO and exploit psychological vulnerabilities in young users belies Meta's deceptive statements that it priorit young users' well-being.

- 410. Many of Meta's design features—audiovisual and haptic alerts, infinite scroll and autoplay, ephemeral content features, quantification and display of Likes, and highly refined algorithmic sequencing of content feeds—overwhelm that dopamine sensitivity known by Meta to exist in young users' developing brains.
- 411. These features induce young users' engagement with Meta's Platforms, and the effect of these use-inducing mechanisms is cumulative because they act in concert.
- 412. By creating and refining these features, Meta has succeeded in making it difficult for young users to resist spending extended time on its Platforms.
- 413. The features create a feedback loop that is integral to Meta's current business model.
 - 10. Meta knows its Platform features are addictive and harmful, but misrepresents and omits this information in public discourse.
- 414. Meta understands the cyclical and harmful nature of its psychologically manipulative features, but persists in subjecting young users to those features, choosing to downplay and deny the harmful aspects of its Platforms instead of correcting those problems.
- 415. During a congressional hearing on March 25, 2021, Zuckerberg stated he did not believe Meta's Platforms harm children. Instead, Zuckerberg suggested that Meta's Platforms are good for teens and adults alike because they "help people stay connected to people they care about, which I think is one of the most fundamental and important human things that we do."

	427.	Externally, Meta's leadership continued to be evasive about the company's resear	ch. On	December 8, 2021, Mosseri told Congress, "I don't believe that research suggests that o	ur prodı	acts are addictive."

429. Through these and other misrepresentations to young users, Congress, and members of the public regarding the negative effect its Platform features have on young users' mental health—as well as Meta's purported prioritization of teen well-being and safety over profits—Meta deceives the public about the qualities, nature, and effects of its Social Media Platforms.

11. Meta makes its Platforms and associated harmful features available to especially young and vulnerable users.

- 430. Meta is aware that teens, preteens (also known as tweens), and even younger children use its Platforms, including Instagram, and has intentionally developed and marketed those Platforms towards these young users.
- 431. Meta knows that it continues to harm young users because Meta's design features have clear and well-documented harms to young users.
- 432. Meta's decision to expose young users to this combination of features and implementation of those features—knowing that they are effective because they are psychologically manipulative and knowing that they are harmful for young users—constitute unfair acts or practices that are impermissible under the law.
- 433. Meta exposes users under age 13 to these psychologically manipulative design features.
- 434. A study cited by Meta in response to a congressional inquiry shows that 81% of parents report that their children began using social media between the ages of 8 and 13.

Zuckerberg and other company leaders focus on "prevalence" metrics in public communications because those metrics create a distorted picture about the safety of Meta's Social Media Platforms. On information and belief, Meta issued the Reports and made other public statements to minimize the public's awareness of the harmful experiences that are widespread on Instagram and Facebook—particularly for young users. D. Meta's Platform features cause young users significant physical and mental harm, of which Meta is keenly aware. 508. Increased use of social media platforms, including those operated by Meta, result in physical and mental health harms particularly for young users, who experience higher rates of major depressive episodes, anxiety, sleep disturbances, suicide, and other mental health concerns. 14

- 509. Social media use among young users began a dramatic increase in the United States in 2012 when Meta acquired Instagram to expand its youth appeal. Instagram increased from 50 million users in 2012 to over 500 million users by 2016, with a significant share of its user base composed of young users.
- 510. As Meta focused on designing features to increase time spent on its Platforms, heavy consumers of social media began to exhibit worse mental health outcomes than light consumers. 15
- Hours spent on social media and the internet have become more strongly 511. associated with poor psychological health (such as self-harm behaviors, depressive symptoms, low life satisfaction, and low self-esteem) than hours spent on electronic gaming and watching TV. 16 Making matters worse, heavier social media use has led to poorer sleep patterns (e.g., later sleep and wake times on school days and trouble falling back asleep after nighttime awakening) and poorer sleep quality. 17

- 512. Such sleep interference in turn causes or exacerbates symptoms of depression and anxiety. 18 Lack of sleep also has negative physical effects, including interfering with the antibody response to vaccines. 19
- These physical and mental harms are particularly acute for young users, who are 513. less able to self-regulate the time they spend on social media platforms. When companies like Meta design platforms to exploit young users' psychological vulnerabilities, the harms are compounded. Researchers call this a positive feedback loop: those who use social media habitually are less able to regulate their behavior; that habitual use, in turn, can lead back to more social-media use; and restarting the cycle, that additional use makes it even harder to regulate the problematic behavior.²⁰
- Young users are at a formative stage of development where they are both 514. especially vulnerable to excessive social media use and especially sensitive to its ensuing impacts. Research indicates that going through puberty while being a heavy social media user interferes with a sensitive period for social learning.²¹ Heavy use of social media in this sensitive developmental period can have negative impacts on long-term life satisfaction.²²

518. Beginning with Instagram's rise in popularity in 2012, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) observed in its Youth Risk Behavior Study the percentage of high school students "who experienced persistent feelings of sadness or hopelessness" skyrocket over the subsequent decade.²⁷

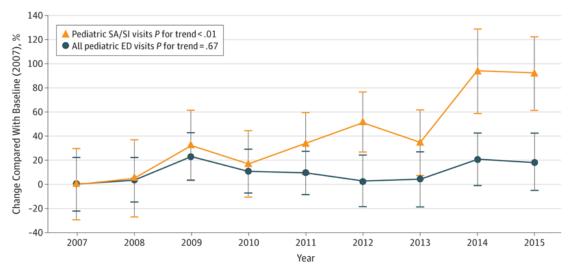

519. Over this same time period, there has also been an increase in youth hospitalization rates for suicidal ideation and suicide attempts. In 2008, prior to the rise of Instagram, hospital visits for suicidal ideation and attempts represented only 0.66% of visits among all age ranges. By 2015, as Instagram's popularity grew, that share had almost doubled, with suicidal ideation and attempts accounting for 1.82% of all visits, with the highest rates of increase among youth ages 12 to 17 years old.²⁸

- 520. The youth mental health crisis fueled by social media platforms has been particularly detrimental for girls and young women.
- 521. Immediately before Instagram's rise in popularity and usership, major predictors for the mental health well-being of U.S. girls and young women were stable or trending down.

522. Beginning with Instagram's rise in popularity in 2012, however, the rates of suicides, self-poisonings, major depressive episodes, and depressive symptoms among girls and young women jumped demonstrably.²⁹

^a Standard deviations are within means at the generational level, not at the individual level, and thus should not be used to calculate individual-level effect sizes.

523. Particularly concerning is the rise of suicidal ideation among girls over the time period that Instagram has surged. According to the CDC's Youth Risk Behavior Survey, in 2011, 19% of high school girls seriously considered attempting suicide. By 2021, that figure reached 30%:³⁰

525. Increased rates of suicidal ideation and attempts have led to an overall higher rate of completed suicide among young girls. Indeed, in 2013 alone—the year after Instagram's surge in popularity among young users—the suicide rate for 13-year-old girls jumped by around 50%. 32

526. This youth mental health crisis fueled by social media platforms like Instagram only stands to worsen. The COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated excessive social media use. The increase in consumption of digital and social media by young users during this time is linked to an increase in "ill-being" and media addiction.³³

527. Meta is not only fully aware that the worsening youth mental health crisis is fueled by social media platforms, but has long known that its Platforms are directly contributing to this crisis.

³² Haidt & Twenge, supra note 14, at 316.

³³ Laura Marciano et al., Digital Media Use and Adolescents' Mental Health During the Covid-19 Pandemic: A Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis, 9 Front Pub. Health 793868 (2021).

529. Meta's design choices and practices take advantage of and contribute to young users' susceptibility to addiction. They exploit psychological vulnerabilities of young users through the false promise that meaningful social connection lies in the next story, image, or video and that ignoring the next piece of social content could lead to social isolation.

- 531. Meta has conducted detailed internal research that demonstrates the mental health impacts of its Platforms on young users, notably a "Teen Mental Health Deep Dive" that surveyed over 2,500 young users in the U.S. and U.K.
- 532. Through this "Teen Mental Health Deep Dive," Meta identified that young users are coping with a variety of emotional issues, including not having "enough friends" or having friends "who aren't really their friends" (52%), having "to create a perfect image" and not being "honest about feelings" (67%), wanting to "hurt [or] kill themselves" (14%), feeling "down, sad, []depressed[,] [a]lone, or lonely (62%), and feeling "not good enough [or] [a]ttractive" (70%).
- 533. The broad takeaway from Meta's "Teen Mental Health Deep Dive" was that "[s]ocial media amplifies many of the age-old challenges of being a teenager. The always-on nature of social media means that teens' social lives have infiltrated into every part of life without

3	534. Meta has found that Instagram specifically impacted young users, with one in five
4	teens stating that Instagram makes them feel worse about themselves.
5	535. Elaborating further, teens responded that Instagram use led to them
6	feeling "not good enough," with
7	reporting the feelings started on Instagram.
8	536. Meta knows that "[t]eens blame Instagram for increases in the rates of anxiety and
9	depression among teens." Instagram's deliberate design features, such as "comparisons of
10	followers and like counts," exploit teens' vulnerability to social comparison, creating a negative
11	feedback loop that leads to mental health harm including self-esteem, anxiety, and insecurity
12	issues.
13	537. Meta also knows that although "young people are acutely aware that Instagram can
14	be bad for their mental health," they feel "compelled to spend time on the app" because Meta has
15	designed its Platforms to exploit young users' "fear of missing out on cultural and social trends."
16	538. These problems are not confined to Instagram but implicate Facebook as well.
17	When Facebook was rolled out to college campuses from 2004 to 2006, researchers compared the

565. During an official inquest investigating the role that social media platform content played in M.R.'s death, and as reported by the Guardian on September 30, 2022, a Meta executive said that such content was "safe" for children to see. The coroner rejected this claim, finding instead in his October 13, 2022 report that M.R. "died from an act of self-harm whilst suffering from depression and the negative effects of on-line content" that she had not sought out, but that the Platforms' algorithms had pushed on her.

566. The coroner's inquest report continued:

The platform operated in such a way using algorithms as to result, in some circumstances, of binge periods of images, video clips and text some of which were selected and provided without requesting them. These binge periods . . . are likely to have had a negative effect on [M.R.] . . . In some cases, the content was particularly graphic, tending to portray self-harm and suicide as an inevitable consequence of a condition that could not be recovered from. The sites normalised her condition focusing on a limited and irrational view without any counterbalance of normality.

567. The coroner further observed that "[t]here was no age verification when signing up to the on-line platform" and that M.R.'s parents "did not have access, to the material being viewed or any control over that material." Unsurprisingly, M.R. was under the age of 13 when she began using Instagram.

574.	Meta similarly downplayed the issue of compulsive use on its Platform.

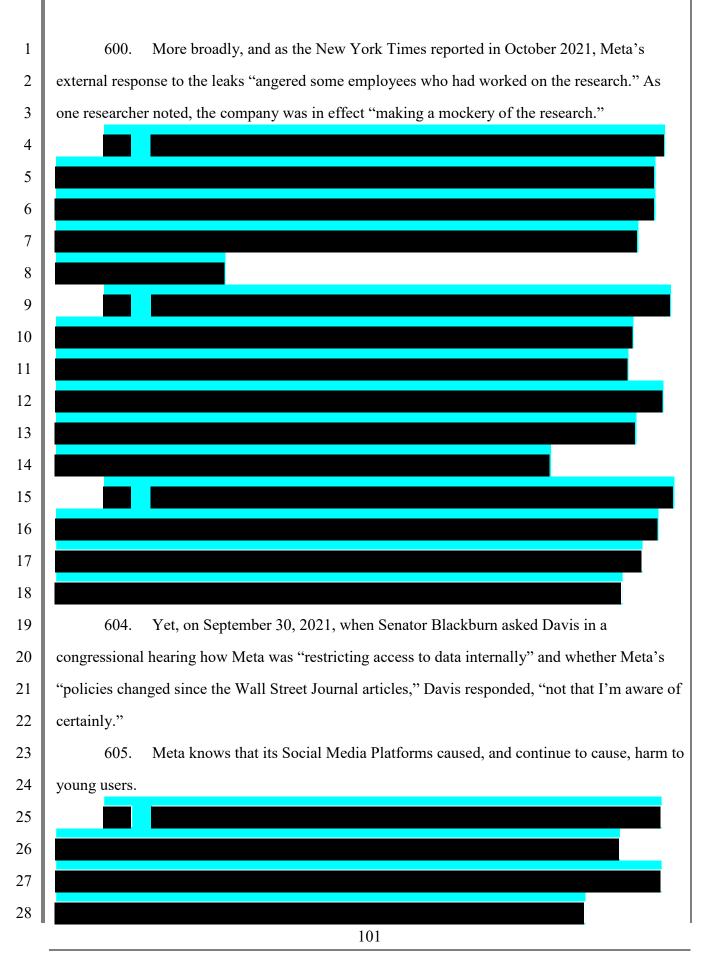

- 575. In addition to downplaying statements about the harms of its Platforms, Meta also mischaracterizes platform features as helpful to well-being when in fact they are designed to fail.
- 576. To illustrate, Meta knows that its features contribute to teens struggling with the amount of time they spend on Meta's Social Media Platforms such as Instagram. Meta researchers noted that "[t]eens talk about the amount of time they spend on Instagram as one of the 'worst' aspects of their relationship to the app." Meta researchers observed that in conversations, teens had "an addicts' narrative about their use" and "wish[ed] they could spend less time caring about it, but they can't help themselves."
- 577. While Meta adopted so-called "time management" tools, in reality, those tools cannot effectively counteract the overwhelming power of features like infinite scroll, autoplay, and other use-inducing features.
- 578. In 2018, Meta launched "Daily Limit," a feature it claimed would enable users to restrict the amount of time they spend on Instagram each day. Despite the feature's name, it does not enable users to restrict the amount of time they spend on the app.
- 579. Instead, Daily Limit serves a pop-up notification whenever a user reaches the maximum amount of time they wish to spend on Instagram each day. But this feature was designed so that the user can easily dismiss the notification and return to using Instagram unimpeded.
- 580. Moreover, the Daily Limit pop-up notification invites the user to reconsider their preferred time limit. Upon information and belief, similar to nudges described above (where, if a user turns their notifications off, Meta nudges the user to turn notifications back on), Meta

	588.	In designing its Daily Limit and Take a Break features, Meta could have provided young	users v	with robust tools that, once enabled, empowered young users to effectively self-regula	te their	use of Meta's Social Media Platforms.

- 589. But instead of being able to set it and forget it, young users who make what can be a difficult choice to limit their daily use or take a break must make this difficult decision over and over again. Meta's design choices make the proverbial wagon that much easier for young users to fall off.
- 590. Upon information and belief, Meta does so because it does not want its users to avail themselves of tools that could help protect them from the addictive nature of Meta's Platforms.
- 591. Moreover, Meta has repeatedly made misleading statements regarding its own internal research on user harms on its Platforms.
- For example, Meta claims that it conducts research to make its Platforms safer for 592. teens. During congressional testimony on September 30, 2021, Davis stated that "we conduct this research [about young people's experiences on Instagram] . . . to minimize the bad and maximize the good."

As another example, in August 2021, Senators Richard Blumenthal and Marsha Blackburn wrote to Zuckerberg with detailed questions concerning the nature and findings of Meta's research on "the effects of social media platforms on kids' well-being." The senators specifically asked whether Meta's research had "ever found that its platforms and products can have a negative effect on children's and teens' mental health or well-being." Meta's letter in response failed to disclose its own studies demonstrating that the answer was yes.

Bejar, former Meta Director of Site Integrity and former consultant to Meta, testified in 2023 that Zuckerberg ignored his appeals for Meta to prioritize user well-being and engage in a "culture shift" to ensure teen safety on its Platforms. As Bejar further testified, Meta "know[s] about harms that teenagers are experiencing in its product, and they're choosing not to engage about it or do meaningful efforts around it."

630. Despite the direct, personal experience of Meta's employees of the harms of Meta's design and features, Meta's own internal studies documenting the harmful effects of these features, the opinions of many external experts and whistleblowers, and the voices of Meta's young users themselves

Meta has persisted in developing and deploying features that exploit young users' psychological vulnerabilities and significantly harm young users in its pursuit of profit.

IX. META'S COPPA NONCOMPLIANCE

- 631. The Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998 (COPPA) protects the privacy of children by requiring technology companies like Meta to obtain informed consent from parents prior to collecting the personal information of children online.
- 632. Meta routinely violates COPPA in its operation of Instagram and Facebook by collecting the personal information of children on those Platforms without first obtaining (or even attempting to obtain) verifiable parental consent, as required by the statute.

A. COPPA requires Meta to obtain verifiable parental consent for Instagram and Facebook users under the age of 13.

- 633. COPPA prohibits social media companies like Meta from collecting personal information from children without first obtaining verifiable parental consent if: (a) the operator of the social media platform has actual knowledge that it is collecting personal information from a child; or (b) the operator's service is directed to children. 15 U.S.C. § 6502(a)(1).
- 634. Meta's operation of Instagram and Facebook is subject to COPPA's verifiable parental consent requirement under both of the two statutory triggers: (a) Meta routinely obtains actual knowledge that users on Instagram and Facebook are under 13 years old; and (b) Meta targets children as users of Instagram and Facebook, making the Platforms directed to children. See 16 C.F.R. § 312.2.
- 635. The term "child" is defined by 15 U.S.C. § 6501(1) to mean an individual under the age of 13. The terms "child," "children," "under-13 user(s)," "U13 users," and "child-users" herein refer to children under the age of 13.
- 636. "Verifiable parental consent" requires, at a minimum, providing a child's parent with notice of Meta's "personal information collection, use, and disclosure practices" and further requires Meta to obtain the parent's authorization for Meta to collect, use, or disclose the child's information. Both of these requirements must be completed before Meta may collect a child's information. 15 U.S.C. § 6501(9).
- 637. Meta does not obtain—or even attempt to obtain—verifiable parental consent before collecting the personal information of children on Instagram and Facebook. "Personal information" is defined by statute and regulation to mean "individually identifiable information about an individual collected online," including the child's name, address, email address, personal identifiers, geolocation information, and photographs or videos of the child, among other categories of information. 15 U.S.C. § 6501(8); 16 C.F.R § 312.2. Meta collects personal information in these categories from all registered users of Instagram, including children.
- 638. Instead of obtaining verifiable parental consent, Meta relies on Instagram's and Facebook's nominal bans on under-13 users to avoid any responsibility under COPPA to its under-13 users and their parents.

Meta is not exempt from

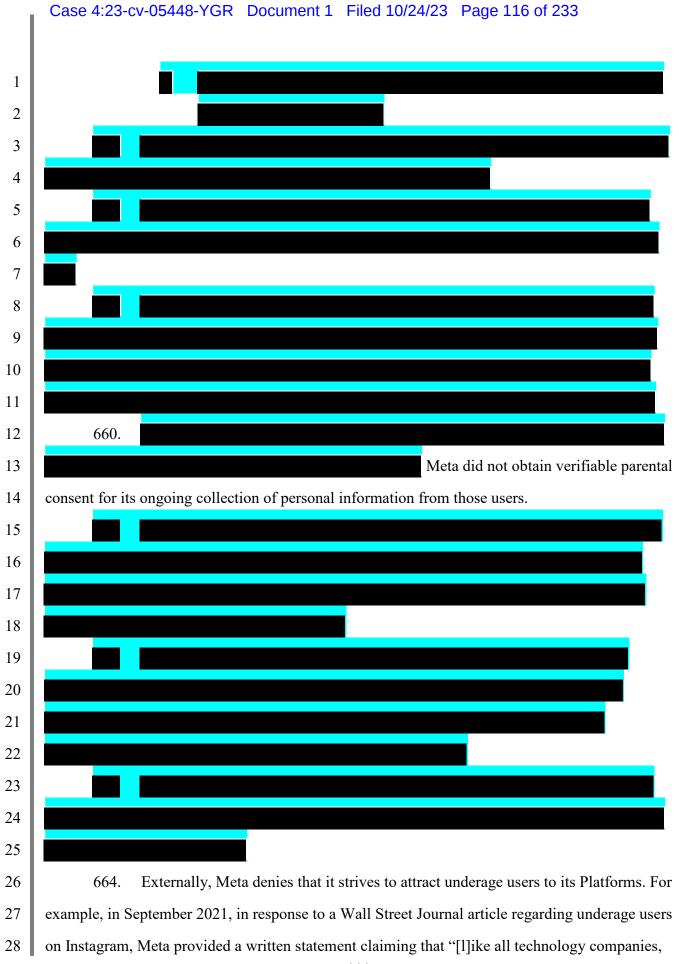

COPPA.

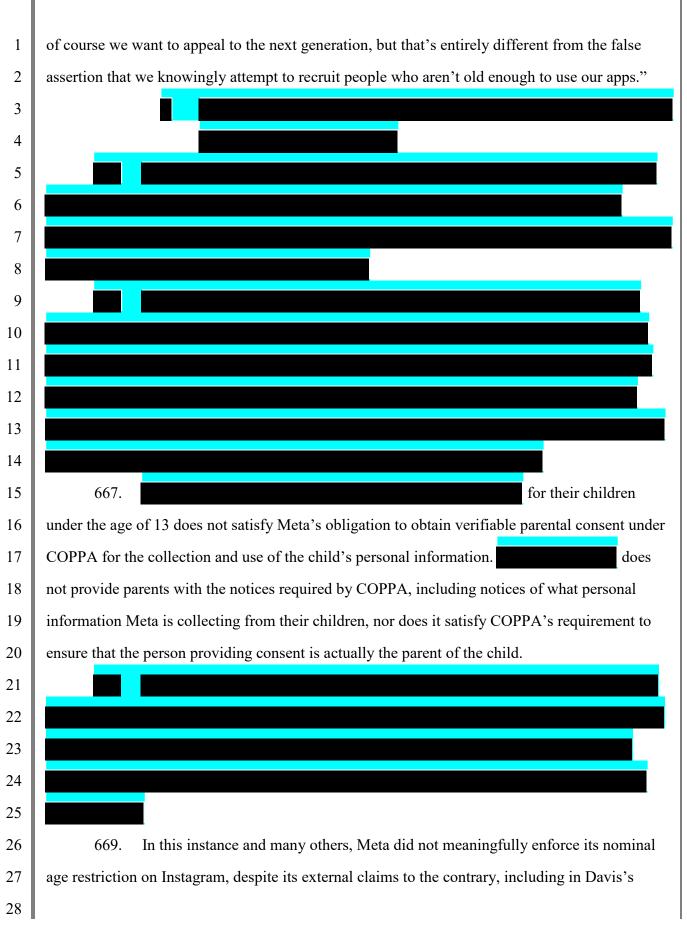

- 639. COPPA empowers State Attorneys General to bring suit against companies that violate the verifiable parental consent requirement. COPPA permits State Attorneys General to obtain injunctive relief, damages, restitution, and other relief on behalf of residents of their States. 15 U.S.C. § 6504(a)(1).
- 640. COPPA also requires the FTC to promulgate regulations consistent with the statute's verifiable parental consent requirement as well as the "actual knowledge [of a] child" and "directed to children" statutory triggers. 15 U.S.C. § 6502(b). The FTC has promulgated such regulations as the Children's Online Privacy Protection Rule. See 16 C.F.R. § 312.1 et seq. (COPPA Rule) (last promulgated Jan. 17, 2013).
- 641. Under COPPA and the COPPA Rule, Meta is subject to COPPA's "verifiable parental consent" requirement—but Meta flouts its obligations under COPPA with respect to its operation of Instagram and Facebook.
 - B. Meta does not comply with COPPA with respect to Instagram.
 - 1. Meta possesses actual knowledge of children on Instagram and collects their personal information without obtaining parental consent.
- 642. Meta is subject to COPPA's verifiable parental consent requirement, among other reasons because it collects the personal information of users under the age of 13 on Instagram despite having "actual knowledge that it is collecting personal information from [children]." 15 U.S.C. § 6502(a)(1).
- 643. Publicly, for example in congressional testimony provided by Meta executive Antigone Davis on September 30, 2021, Meta has downplayed its actual knowledge of under-13 users on Instagram by pointing out that its terms of service nominally disallow use of Instagram by under-13 users—and that, in recent years, Meta has prompted users to self-report that they are at least 13 years old.

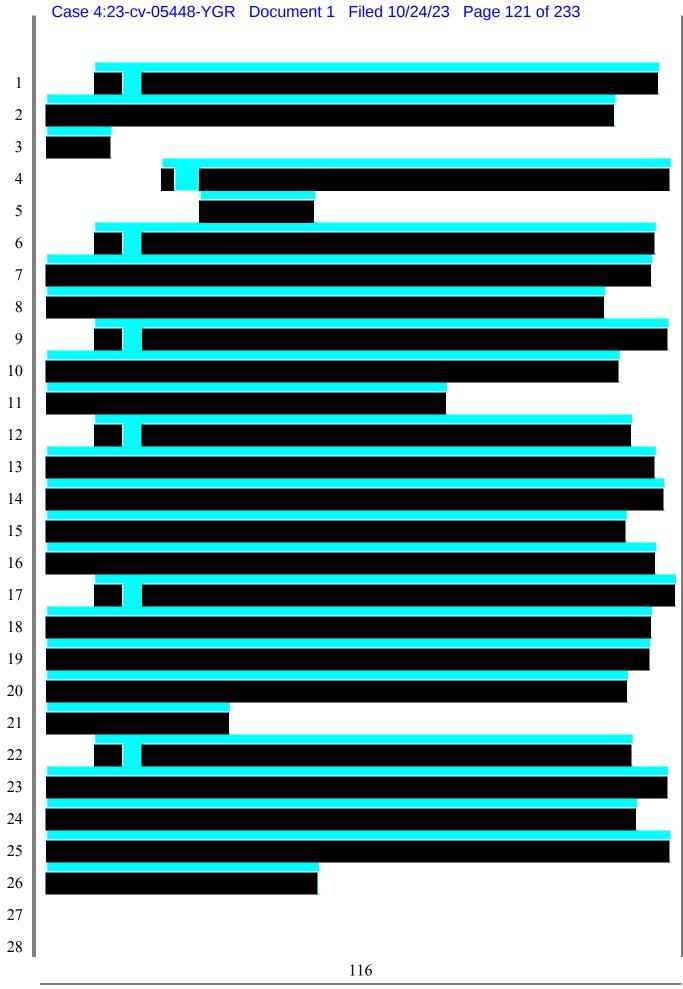

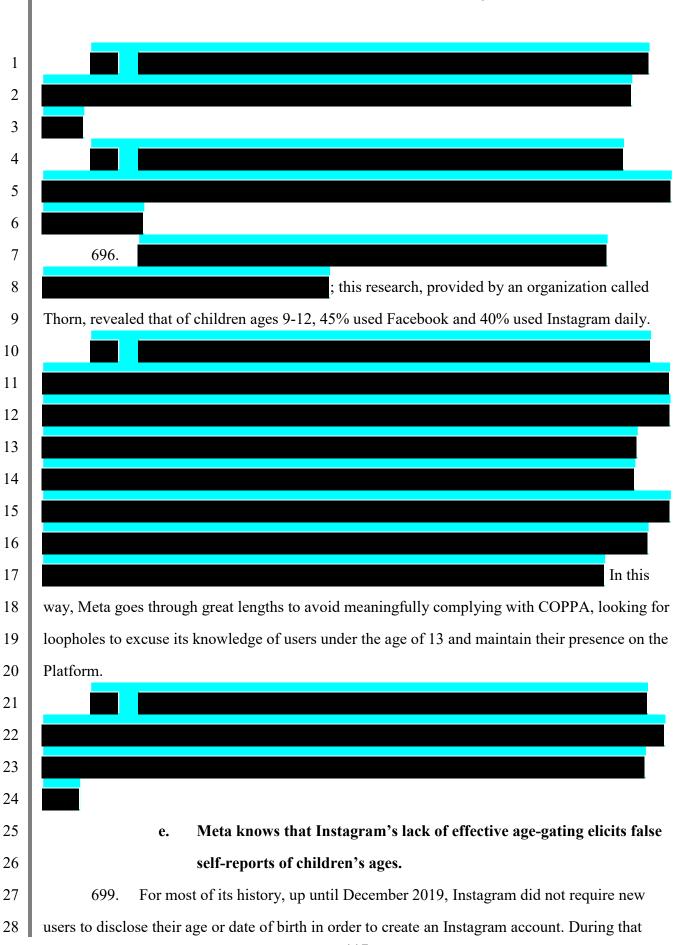

Meta claimed in a July 27, 2021 post, titled "How Do We Know Someone Is Old Enough to Use

Externally, however,

Case 4:23-cv-05448-YGR Document 1 Filed 10/24/23 Page 122 of 233

time, Meta did not require users to take even the minimal step of self-attesting that they were over the age of 13. Instead, for over seven years, under-13 users faced no practical obstacles to creating accounts on Instagram.

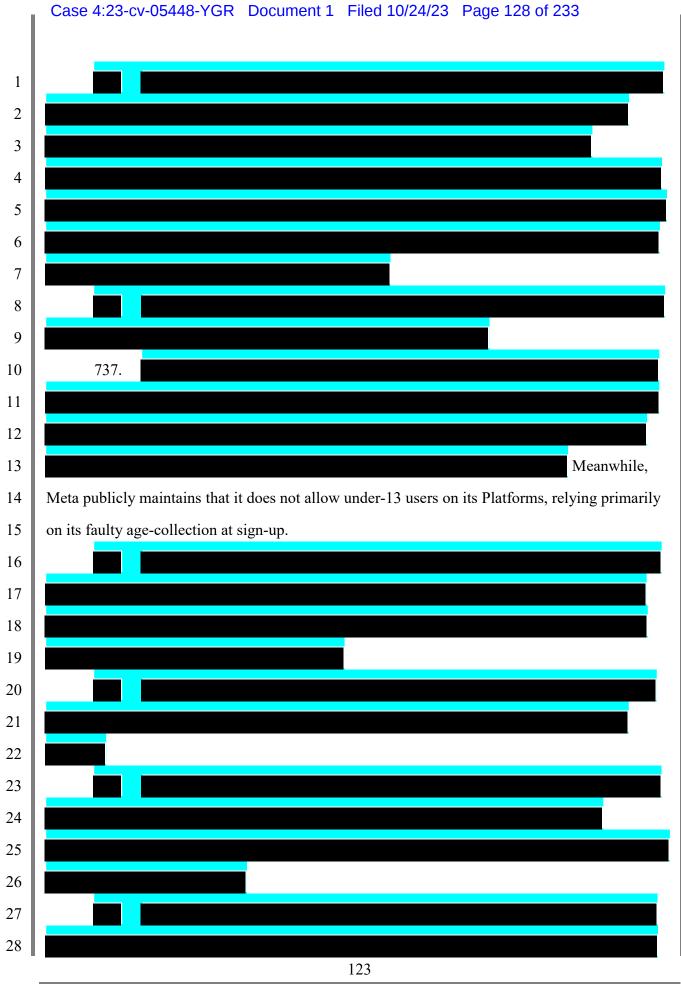

- 702. Eventually, in response to pressure from regulators and the public, Meta purported to implement an age gate as part Instagram's account registration process—but the term "gate" was a misnomer because it did not prevent under-13 users from creating and using Instagram accounts.
- 703. To the contrary, Meta initially designed its age gate in a way that prompted all users, including children under the age of 13, to provide an age over 13. Specifically, Meta's sign-up page contained a drop-down menu that automatically generated a date and year of birth representing the user to be 13 years old. The design of the age gate signaled to children the specific date that they could affirm to advance through the registration process, even though the date automatically populated by Instagram was not their actual date of birth.
- 704. Meta knew that its use of a sign-up page automatically generating a date 13 years prior to the date of registration aided under-13 users in misrepresenting their age in order to access Instagram.
- 705. "[E]ncourag[ing] children to falsify their ages to gain access" is impermissible under COPPA. See COPPA July 2020 Guidance § H(3).³⁵
- 706. Meta only recently changed Instagram's sign-up page to automatically generate the instant date and year, rather than a date 13 years prior.
- 707. Meta's adoption of an age gate that permits the user to enter any date of birth, regardless of its accuracy, still does not prevent under-13 users from using Instagram.

³⁵ Complying with COPPA: Frequently Asked Questions, Fed. Trade Comm'n (July 2020), https://archive.ph/PEj8q (hereinafter "July 2020 COPPA Guidance").

Case 4:23-cv-05448-YGR Document 1 Filed 10/24/23 Page 124 of 233

- 743. Meta externally claimed, through congressional testimony provided by Mosseri on December 8, 2021, that "we train our technology to identify if people are above or below 18 using multiple signals,"—including birthday posts—and that Meta is building new technology to do the same for users under 13.
- 744. Former Meta Director of Site Integrity and former consultant to Meta Bejar testified that Meta does not meaningfully utilize birthday posts to identify users who claim to be over 13 years old but are not. In fact, Meta's internal reporting mechanism for using birthday posts is complicated which prevents most reports from reaching "completion," or the point where a person successfully submits a report to Instagram.
- 745. Despite Meta's actual knowledge, acquired through its possession and review of estimated age data and/or acquired through other sources, that Meta collects personal information of users under the age of 13 in the ordinary course of its operations, Meta does not obtain verifiable parental consent for under-13 users.

2. Instagram is "directed to children."

- 746. Independent of Meta's "actual knowledge" of users under age 13, Meta is also subject to COPPA's verifiable parental consent requirement because Instagram, or a portion thereof, is "directed to children." See 15 U.S.C. § 6502(a)(1); 16 C.F.R. § 312.2.
- 747. The FTC promulgated regulations implementing Section 6502(b) of COPPA, including 16 C.F.R. § 312.2, which defines website or online service "directed to children" as one "that is targeted to children." The regulation lists factors for determining whether an online

1 service, or a part thereof, is directed to children and therefore subject to the statute's "verifiable 2 parental consent" requirement. These factors include: 3 subject matter, visual content, use of animated characters or childoriented activities and incentives, music or other audio content, age 4 of models, presence of child celebrities or celebrities who appeal to children, language or other characteristics of the Web site or online 5 service, as well as whether advertising promoting or appearing on the Web site or online service is directed to children. The 6 Commission will also consider competent and reliable empirical evidence regarding audience composition, and evidence regarding 7 the intended audience. 8 16 C.F.R. § 312.2. 9 748. An online service is "directed to children" if it "targets children as one of its audiences - even if children are not the primary audience." Even if a website claims to target 10 teenagers or adults, "in reality, [the] site may attract a substantial number of children under 13, 11 and thus may be considered [to be] ... 'directed to children'"37 12 13 749. Under COPPA and applicable regulations, Instagram is "directed to children" 14 considering the following facts: (1) Instagram's "audience composition" includes millions of 15 users under the age of 13; (2) advertising that promotes Instagram and appears on Instagram is 16 directed to children; (3) Meta's design of the Instagram registration process allows children to use 17 Instagram; 18 (5) subject matter, characters, activities, music, and other content on Instagram are 19 child-oriented; and (6) models and celebrities on Instagram are children and/or child-oriented. 20 Instagram's audience composition includes millions of users under 21 the age of 13. 22 750. Under 16 C.F.R. § 312.2, empirical evidence regarding audience composition is 23 relevant to determining whether an online service, or a portion thereof, is directed to children. 24 25 26 27 ³⁶ July 2020 COPPA Guidance, supra note 35. ³⁷ Id. 28

- directed to children.
- 758. Under 16 C.F.R. § 312.2, whether "advertising promoting or appearing on . . . the online service is directed to children" is relevant to determining whether an online service, or a portion thereof, is directed to children.
- 759. Meta's ads promoting Instagram feature and are directed to children—and ads that Meta hosts on Instagram are also child-directed.

760. Meta has published advertising campaigns for Instagram featuring actors who appear to be children or teens, as shown in the below screenshot from a television commercial for Instagram that aired in April 2023:

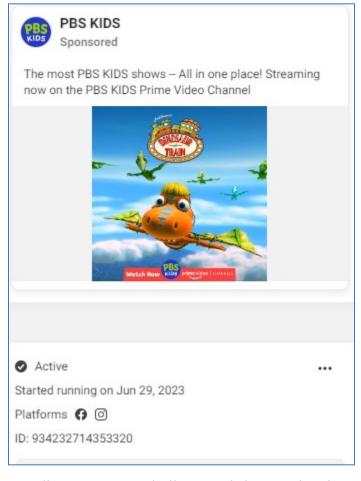

761. Meta also posted an advertisement for Instagram on YouTube in October 2021, featuring one or more individuals who appear to be children or teens, as depicted in the following screenshot:

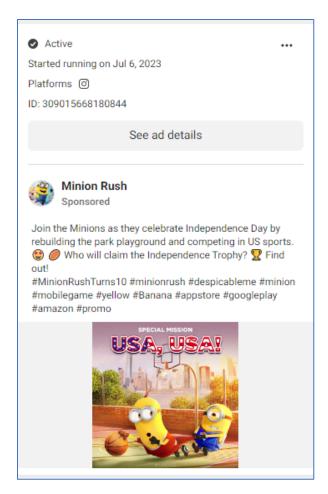

762. These advertisements and others by Meta related to Instagram were directed to children and teens and featured individuals who appeared to be children or teens.

763. And Meta displays advertisements within Instagram that feature children and are directed to children.

For example, according to Meta's Ad Library website, an advertisement promoting the children's television show "Dinosaur Train" and the "PBS KIDS Prime Video Channel" was run on Instagram and Facebook in July 2023, as depicted in the following screenshot:

Also according to Meta's Ad Library website, an advertisement featuring 765. children's cartoon characters "the Minions" was run on Instagram in July 2023, as depicted in the following screenshot:

766. Meta's practice of hosting advertisements targeting children is another way that Instagram is directed to children.

c. Meta's design of the Instagram registration process allows children under 13 to use Instagram.

- 767. As set forth in detail above, Instagram first utilized no age gate for several years, then implemented an age gate that defaulted to a user age of 13 or above, then implemented an age gate that depends on children to self-report their own age. Meta is aware that because of these intentional design choices, under-13 users routinely supply a false date of birth when registering for Instagram.
- 768. Meta has access to, and chooses not to use, alternative feasible age verification methods that would significantly reduce or eliminate the number of underage users on Meta's for children.

To list only a few representative examples, Meta has admitted that it hosts the 796. following accounts or pages on Instagram. 797. These and thousands of other child-oriented parts of Instagram are "a part []of" an online service that "is directed to children."³⁹

798. Meta's maintenance and/or promotion of thousands of child-oriented pages on Instagram is one of the ways that Meta causes Instagram to be "directed to children."

f. Models and celebrities on Instagram are children and/or child-oriented.

799. Under 16 C.F.R. § 312.2, the "age of models, presence of child celebrities, [and] celebrities who appeal to children" are relevant to determining whether an online service, or a portion thereof, is directed to children.

800. Meta hosts, maintains, and promotes thousands of accounts on Instagram that are dedicated to displaying images and videos of child models, child celebrities, and other child-oriented celebrities.

- 801. As a representative example, Instagram currently hosts the Instagram account of JoJo Siwa, a popular celebrity among tweens. JoJo Siwa is now over the age of 13 but she has maintained an active public Instagram account since she was approximately 8 years old.
- 802. When confronted with evidence that JoJo Siwa—then and now a popular celebrity among tweens—had been active on Instagram since she was eight years old, and had Instagram followers who were minors, Mosseri's response was: "I don't want to hear it."

³⁹ See 16 C.F.R. § 312.2.

803. Thousands of pages on Instagram feature child celebrities and child-oriented celebrities which are directed to children.

- 3. Meta does not obtain verifiable parental consent before collecting personal information from users under the age of 13 on Instagram.
- 806. Despite Meta's "actual knowledge" of under-13 users and the fact that Instagram is "directed to children," Meta does not obtain verifiable parental consent, as required by COPPA, before collecting the personal information of its child users.
- To obtain verifiable parental consent, Meta would need to (1) first provide notice 807. to the parent of the company's "personal information collection, use, and disclosure practices," then (2) obtain the parent's authorization for the company to "collect[], use, and disclos[e], as applicable . . . personal information and the subsequent use of that information"—all in conformity with the COPPA regulations and all prior to the child's information being collected. 15 U.S.C. § 6501(9).
- 808. On information and belief, Meta does not provide sufficient notice on its Instagram websites or Platform, through a prominently posted link or directly to parents, about what information it collects from children, how it uses such information, its disclosure practices, and parents' rights to review or delete their children's information.

810. Meta nonetheless collects "personal information" from all registered users of Instagram, including all users under the age of 13 on Instagram, without first obtaining verifiable parental consent.

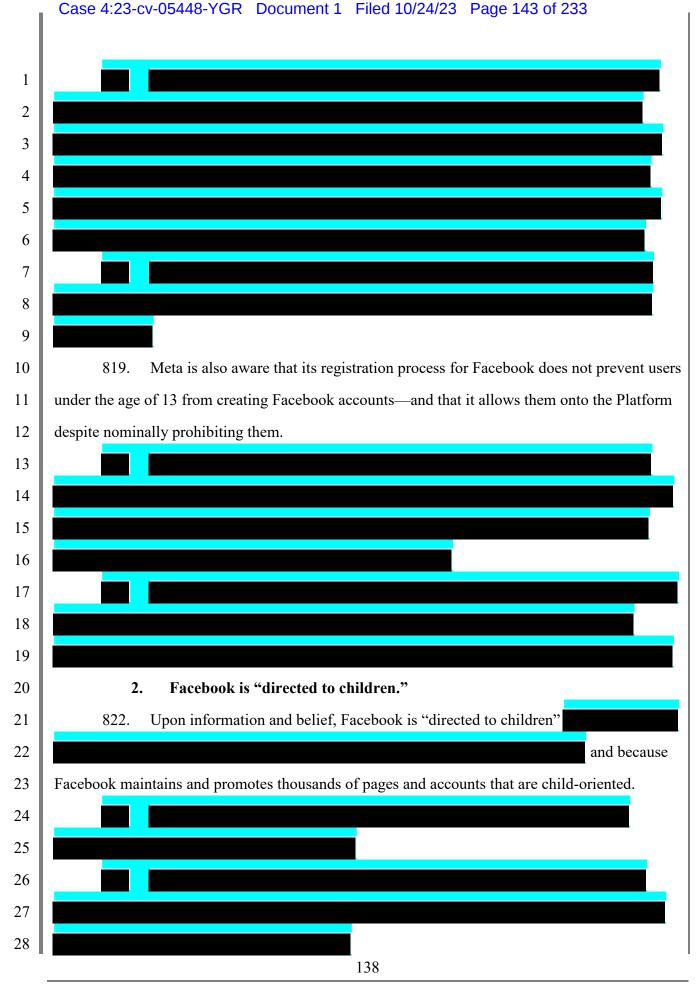

811. Meta collects "personal information" of children through Instagram including, but not limited to, geolocation information, persistent identifiers of the child, unique device identifiers, photos and videos of the child, and other individually identifiable information about each user under the age of 13.

C. Meta does not comply with COPPA with respect to Facebook.

812. Under COPPA, Meta is also required to obtain verifiable parental consent with respect to users under the age of 13 on Facebook including because (1) Meta has "actual knowledge" of under-13 users on Facebook; and (2) Facebook, or a portion thereof, is directed to children.

1. Meta has actual knowledge of users under age 13 on Facebook.

830. Similarly, Meta permits advertisements to be displayed within Facebook that feature children and are directed to children.

831. According to Meta's Ad Library website, an advertisement promoting the PBS Kids television show "Wild Kratts" and the "PBS KIDS Prime Video Channel" was run on Facebook in July 2023, as depicted in the following screenshot:

- Because Facebook is targeted to children, Meta is required to obtain verifiable parental consent for its collection of personal information from users under the age of 13.
 - 3. Meta does not obtain verifiable parental consent before collecting personal information from users under age 13 on Facebook.
- 833. Despite being required under COPPA to obtain verifiable parental consent, Meta does not obtain—or even attempt to obtain—verifiable parental consent before collecting the personal information of children on Facebook.
- 834. On information and belief, Meta also does not provide sufficient notice on its Facebook websites or Platform, through a prominently posted link or directly to parents, about what information it collects from children, how it uses such information, its disclosure practices, and parents' rights to review or delete their children's information.

835. The "personal information" of children collected by Meta through Facebook includes, but is not limited to, geolocation information, persistent identifiers of the user, unique device identifiers, photos and videos of the children, and other individually identifiable information about each child-user.

X. META CONTINUES TO EXPAND AND INTRODUCE NEW PLATFORMS

- 836. Meta has indicated that it plans to expand its presence in the Virtual Reality (VR) arena.
- 837. Virtual Reality is a new way to interact with computers wherein a user's body is virtually placed into a 3D digital world that they can control by moving their body as though in the real world.
- 838. Meta first ventured into virtual reality when, in 2014, it purchased VR headset manufacturer Oculus. Meta has since developed a flagship VR Social Media Platform called "Horizon Worlds."
- 839. In May 2022, the organization SumOfUs (now called Eko), released a report documenting the harms it found on Horizon Worlds, including harassment and abuse.
- 840. On March 8, 2023, the Center for Countering Digital Hate published a report about bullying, sexual harassment of minors, and harmful content on Horizon Worlds.
- 841. As of April 2023, Meta made Horizon Worlds available to young users between the ages of 13 to 17.
- 842. The Filing States have attempted to investigate Meta's actions in the VR space, specifically by issuing Civil Investigative Demands on June 7, 2023, requesting information about minors on Horizon Worlds, including users under age 13.
- 843. To date, Meta has not responded to the Filing States' requests for information and documents on this topic.
- 844. Upon information and belief, Meta is developing and deploying new features on its nascent virtual reality Platforms such as Horizon Worlds, which users may link to their accounts on Facebook and Instagram.

845. Upon information and belief, Meta's conduct in the VR space may create harm to minors such that it constitutes violations of states' consumer protection laws and yield further violations under COPPA.

XI. SUMMARY OF META'S DECEPTIVE AND UNFAIR OR UNCONSCIONABLE ACTS AND PRACTICES

A. Deceptive Acts and Practices

- 846. Meta engaged in the following deceptive acts and practices, with the intent that consumers rely on the deceptive acts and practices:
 - a. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that its Social Media Platforms are not psychologically or physically harmful for young users and are not designed to induce young users' compulsive and extended use, when they are in fact so designed;
 - b. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that its Social Media Platforms are less addictive and/or less likely to result in psychological and physical harm for young users than its Social Media Platforms are in reality;
 - c. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, through the publication of CSER reports and , and through other communications, that the incidence or prevalence of negative or harmful user experiences on Meta's Social Media Platforms was lower than it actually was;
 - d. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication that it prioritized young users' health and safety over maximizing profits, when in fact Meta subordinated young user health and safety to its goal of maximizing profits by prolonging young users' time spent on its Social Media Platforms;
 - e. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication that Meta prevents under-13 users from using Instagram and/or Facebook when in fact Meta was aware that it does not prevent under-13 users from using Instagram and Facebook;

26

28

- f. Meta misrepresented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication that Meta's collection of user data was not for the purpose of causing those users to become addicted to the Social Media Platforms, when in reality that was one of the purposes for which Meta collected user data;
- g. Meta has made other false and deceptive representations, including as set forth in paragraphs 1 through 835.

B. Unfair and/or Unconscionable Acts and Practices

- 847. Meta engaged in unfair and unconscionable acts and practices, including the following unfair and/or unconscionable acts and practices, in connection with young users' use of and/or addiction to Meta's Social Media Platforms:
 - a. Meta targeted its Social Media Platforms to young users while knowingly designing its Social Media Platforms to include features that Meta knew to be psychologically and physically harmful to young users—including features known to promote compulsive, prolonged, and unhealthy use by young users;
 - b. Meta utilized Social Media Platform features that unfairly and/or unconscionably harm young users independently of any actions taken by third-party users of Meta's Platforms. These features include infinite scroll, ephemeral content features, autoplay, quantification and display of "Likes," and disruptive alerts, all of which were unfairly and/or unconscionably utilized by Meta to extract additional time and attention from young users whose developing brains were not equipped to resist those manipulative tactics;
 - c. Meta designed, developed, and deployed disruptive audiovisual and vibration notifications and alerts and ephemeral content features in a way that unfairly and/or unconscionably exploited young users' psychological vulnerabilities and cultivated a sense of "fear of missing out" in order to induce young users to spend more time than they would otherwise choose on Meta's Social Media Platforms;
 - d. Meta algorithmically served content to young users, according to "variable reinforcement schedules," thereby manipulating dopamine releases in young users,

- 862. While engaging in the acts and practices alleged in this Complaint, Meta knew or should have known that its conduct was of the nature prohibited by Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 44-1522, subjecting it to enforcement and penalties as provided in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 44-1531(A).

- 864. With respect to the unfair acts and practices described above, these acts and practices caused or were likely to cause substantial injuries to consumers that were not reasonably avoidable by consumers and were not outweighed by countervailing benefits to consumers or to competition.

Business and Professions Code section 17500 et seq., by making or causing to be made untrue or misleading statements with the intent to induce members of the public to use Meta's platforms when such statements were likely to mislead members of the public about the nature and safety of Meta's platforms. Meta's untrue or misleading representations include, but are not limited to, the representations described in paragraph 846.

867. At the time the untrue or misleading representations were made, Meta knew or by the exercise of reasonable care should have known that the representations were untrue or misleading.

COUNT IV: UNFAIR COMPETITION BY META IN VIOLATION OF BUSINESS AND

PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 17200 (BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA)

- 868. California realleges and incorporates herein by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 859 and 865 to 867 as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 869. From a date unknown to California and continuing to the present, Meta has engaged in and continues to engage in unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent acts or practices, which constitute unfair competition within the meaning of Section 17200 of the Business and Professions Code. Meta's acts of unfair competition include, but are not limited to, the following:
- 870. Meta has committed unlawful business practices by violating California Business and Professions Code section 17500 et seq., as alleged in Count III;
- 871. Meta has made deceptive representations, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, regarding its Social Media Platforms, including, but not limited to, those described in paragraph 846.
- 872. Meta has engaged in unfair acts and omissions with regard to its Social Media Platforms, as described in paragraphs 847-850.
- 873. Meta has engaged in the acts and practices alleged in Count I, which violated COPPA and the COPPA Rule.

COUNT V: DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE COLORADO CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, COLO. REV. STAT. § 6-1-105(1)(e)

- 874. Colorado realleges and incorporates by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 850 as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 875. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, and other representations regarding its Platforms, including but not limited to statements made to reporters, statements made to the public via Meta's website, and statements provided in testimony to Congress, such as through the means described in paragraphs 846.a. through 846.g., Meta knowingly and/or recklessly made false representations regarding the characteristics, uses, benefits, and/or alterations of its Platforms.
- 876. Such representations include, but are not limited to, those set forth in paragraphs 846.a. through 846.g. These and other false statements by Meta were material to consumers' decisions regarding their usage of Meta's Platforms. These representations also had the capacity to deceive consumers and were intended to induce young consumers' use of the Platforms.
- 877. The deceptive acts or practices alleged herein constitute separate violations of the Colorado Consumer Protection Act. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, both separately and as taken together, Meta violated Colo. Rev. Stat. § 6-1-105(1)(e).

COUNT VI: DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE COLORADO CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, COLO. REV. STAT. § 6-1-105(1)(g)

- 878. Colorado realleges and incorporates by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 850 as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 879. Through the acts and omissions described above, including but not limited to those set forth in paragraphs 846.a. through 846.g., Meta represented that its Social Media Platforms met a particular standard, quality, and grade of safety appropriate for its young users that Meta knew or should have known they did not meet.
- 880. For example, as detailed above, Meta made specific representations regarding the safety of its Platforms in its "Community Standards Enforcement Reports," which described the percentage of content posted that Meta removed for violating its Community Standards. In its Reports and accompanying statements made on its website, to reporters, and to Congress, Meta promoted this "prevalence" metric as a reliable measure of the safety of its Social Media Platforms. Meta represented that because it aggressively enforced its Community Standards—thereby reducing the "prevalence" of Community-Standards-violating content—its Social Media Platforms were safe products for young users, and only rarely exposed young users to harmful content and harmful experiences.

- 881. But Meta knew or should have known the "prevalence" of content which violated its Community Standards was not the same as the actual "prevalence" of harmful content on its Social Media Platforms. Meta knew or should have known that the prevalence of harmful content——was significantly higher than the public-facing prevalence metrics Meta reported to consumers. Meta thus knew that its Social Media Platforms did not meet the standard, quality, and/or grade necessary to make it safe for young users, despite its representations to the contrary.
- 882. The representations alleged herein constitute separate violations of the Colorado Consumer Protection Act. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, both separately and as taken together, Meta violated Colo. Rev. Stat. § 6-1-105(1)(g).

COUNT VII: DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE COLORADO CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, COLO. REV. STAT. § 6-1-105(1)(u)

- 883. Colorado realleges and incorporates by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 850 as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 884. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, and other representations regarding its Platforms, including but not limited to statements made to reporters, statements made to the public via Meta's website, and statements provided in testimony to Congress, such as through the means described in paragraphs 846.a. through 846.g., Meta failed to disclose material information to consumers regarding its Social Media Platforms. Such information includes but is not limited to the fact that these Platforms were designed to induce compulsive and extended use, the effects of which are particularly harmful for young users, and that harmful content on the Platforms was more prevalent than what Meta represented to consumers.

- 885. Meta knew this information at the time it advertised, promoted, and/or sold its Platforms but failed to disclose it. Meta made these and other material omissions with an intent to induce young users to use its Social Media Platforms.
- 886. The material omissions alleged herein constitute separate violations of the Colorado Consumer Protection Act. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, both separately and as taken together, Meta violated Colo. Rev. Stat. § 6-1-105(1)(u).

COUNT VIII: DECEPTIVE AND UNFAIR ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE COLORADO CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, COLO. REV. STAT. § 6-1-105(1)(rrr)

- 887. Colorado realleges and incorporates by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 850 as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 888. Through the above-described acts and omissions, including but not limited to the acts and omissions described in paragraphs 847 through 850, Meta knowingly and/or recklessly engaged in unfair, unconscionable, deceptive, deliberately misleading, false, and/or fraudulent acts and/or practices.
- 889. At all relevant times, Meta knew of the mental and physical harms suffered by young users of its Social Media Platforms. Meta deliberately misled consumers regarding these harms and exploited the vulnerabilities of young users to maximize engagement. Such conduct led to, among other things, young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of, and addiction to, the Social Media Platforms.
- 890. Meta's acts and omissions alleged herein offend public policy, fall in the penumbra of conduct generally recognized under common-law theories of products liability, and are immoral, unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, including because they constitute knowing decisions causing unnecessary and unjustified harm to young users for Meta's financial gain.

891. Meta's acts and omissions alleged herein are also likely to cause, and have caused, substantial injury to consumers that could not be reasonably avoided. Young users could not have reasonably avoided injuries resulting from Meta's acts and omissions, nor can they do so in the future, for numerous reasons, including but not limited to Meta's misrepresentations and failure to disclose the dangerous nature of its Social Media Platforms, and Meta's use of psychologically manipulative engagement-inducing features, knowing that young users are especially susceptible to those features.

892. The deceptive and/or unfair act or practices engaged in by Meta as recited above constitute separate violations of the Colorado Consumer Protection Act. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, both separately and as taken together, Meta violated Colo. Rev. Stat. § 6-1-105(1)(rrr).

COUNT IX: VIOLATIONS OF THE CONNECTICUT UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT, CONNECTICUT GENERAL STATUTES § 42-110b et seq.

- 893. At all relevant times, Meta was engaged in trade or commerce in Connecticut pursuant to Connecticut General Statutes (Conn. Gen. Stat.) § 42-110b(a).
- 894. The State of Connecticut realleges and incorporates herein by reference each allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs 1 through 850.
- 895. The State of Connecticut alleges that the aforesaid acts and practices in paragraph 846 constitute deceptive acts or practices in violation of Conn. Gen. Stat. § 42-110b(a).
- 896. The State of Connecticut alleges that the aforesaid acts and practices of Meta in paragraphs 847 through 850 offend public policy pertaining to the protection of minors from the harms of addiction as well as protecting the privacy and safety of minors online as embodied in COPPA.
- 897. The State of Connecticut alleges that the aforesaid acts and practices of Meta in paragraphs 847 to 850 are oppressive, unethical, immoral, and unscrupulous.
- 898. Meta's conduct substantially harmed Connecticut consumers in that Meta's unfair acts and omissions caused young Connecticut users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to Meta's Social Media Platforms which resulted in mental and physical harms, as alleged in paragraphs 847 through 850.

- 899. Meta's acts and practices, as described herein, therefore constitute unfair acts or practices in violation of Conn. Gen. Stat. § 42-110b(a).
- 900. Meta knew, or should have known, that its conduct was unfair or deceptive in violation of Conn. Gen. Stat. § 42-110b, and as a consequence Meta is subject to civil penalties of not more than $5,000 per violation pursuant to Conn. Gen. Stat. § 42-110o(b).

- 902. Meta and each Defendant at all relevant times were "person[s]" as defined under the Delaware CFA. Specifically, Meta and each Defendant were corporations, businesses, or partnerships.
- 903. Meta conducted "sale[s]" of "merchandise" as defined by the Delaware CFA during all relevant times.
- 904. Meta created and disseminated "advertisements" as defined by the Delaware CFA during all relevant times.
- 905. Meta intentionally and purposefully sold and transacted in merchandise and advertisement within the State of Delaware at all relevant times.
- 906. The State of Delaware alleges that Meta's acts and omissions described in paragraphs 1 to 850 of this Complaint constitute violations of the Delaware CFA, including 6 Del. Code Ann. § 2513(a).
- 907. Meta acted, used, and/or employed deception, fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation, unfair practice, and/or the concealment, suppression, or omission of material fact with intent that others rely upon such concealment, suppression, or omission, in connection

- 917. Meta engaged in a series of conduct, described in paragraph 846 which similarly create a likelihood of confusion or of misunderstanding. 6 Del. Code Ann. § 2532(a)(12).
- 918. Meta's actions constituted willful violations of the Delaware DTPA because they knew or should have known that its conduct was prohibited by that statute.

COUNT XII: DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF GEORGIA FAIR BUSINESS PRACTICES ACT, O.C.G.A. § 10-1-390 et seq.

- 919. The State of Georgia, by and through Christopher M. Carr, Attorney General of the State of Georgia, realleges and incorporates herein by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 920. Prior to initiating this proceeding under the Georgia Fair Business Practices Act (FBPA), the State of Georgia, by and through the Attorney General and his designees, complied with O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397(c).
- 921. The State of Georgia, by and through the Attorney General, is authorized pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397(b)(2) to initiate this action, which may be brought in federal district court pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397.1.
- 922. Meta's consumer acts or practices are or were conducted in "trade" or "commerce," as those terms are defined in O.C.G.A. § 10-1-392(a)(28) of the FBPA, in whole or in part in the State of Georgia.
- 923. Meta and each Defendant are or were during all relevant times engaged in the conduct of "consumer acts or practices," as that term is defined in O.C.G.A. § 10-1-392(a)(7) of the FBPA, in whole or in part in the State of Georgia.
- 924. While engaged in consumer acts or practices in trade or commerce, Meta is using, has used, and/or is about to use the following deceptive methods, acts, and practices in whole or in part in the State of Georgia, including through the means described in paragraph 846.
- 925. Meta's aforesaid methods, acts, and practices are deceptive and are thus unlawful under the FBPA, including O.C.G.A. § 10-1-393(a) and (b).

COUNT XIII: UNFAIR ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF GEORGIA FAIR BUSINESS PRACTICES ACT, O.C.G.A. § 10-1-390 et seq.

- 927. The State of Georgia, by and through Christopher M. Carr, Attorney General of the State of Georgia, realleges and incorporates herein by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 928. Prior to initiating this proceeding under the FBPA, the State of Georgia, by and through the Attorney General and his designees, complied with O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397(c).
- 929. The State of Georgia, by and through the Attorney General, is authorized pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397(b)(2) to initiate this action, which may be brought in federal district court pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 10-1-397.1.
- 930. Meta's consumer acts or practices are or were conducted in "trade" or "commerce," as those terms are defined in O.C.G.A. § 10-1-392(a)(28) of the FBPA, in whole or in part in the State of Georgia.
- 931. Meta is or was during all relevant times engaged in the conduct of "consumer acts or practices," as that term is defined in O.C.G.A. § 10-1-392(a)(7) of the FBPA, in whole or in part in the State of Georgia.
- 932. While engaged in consumer acts or practices in trade or commerce, Meta is using, has used, and/or is about to use unfair methods, acts, and practices in whole or in part in the State of Georgia, that cause, have caused, and/or are likely to cause young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to Meta's Social Media Platforms, including by the means described in paragraphs 847 through 850.
- 933. At all relevant times, Meta had a thorough understanding of the mental and physical harms and addiction suffered by young users of its Social Media Platforms. Instead of taking adequate measures to mitigate these damaging effects, Meta turned a blind eye to them, and persisted in its use of manipulative and harmful features to exploit young users' psychological vulnerabilities.

- 934. Meta's methods, acts, and practices alleged herein have caused, continue to cause, and/or are likely to cause substantial injury to consumers including physical and mental harms as well as significant risks to the health and safety of consumers—especially young users.
- 935. The substantial injury suffered by consumers due to Meta's methods, acts, and practices could not be reasonably avoided. Young users could not have reasonably avoided injuries resulting from Meta's acts and practices, including because Meta misrepresented and failed to disclose the dangerous nature of its Social Media Platforms and because Meta utilized psychologically manipulative engagement-inducing features, knowing that young users are especially susceptible to those psychologically manipulative tactics.
- 936. The substantial injury that Meta's methods, acts, and practices alleged herein have caused, continue to cause, and/or are likely to cause consumers is not outweighed by countervailing benefits to consumers or competition.
- 937. Meta's methods, acts, and practices alleged herein are immoral, unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, including because they constitute knowing decisions causing unnecessary and unjustified harm to young users for Meta's financial gain.
- 938. The Georgia legislature has expressed a public policy goal of protecting youth from the harms of addiction and related afflictions and unhealthy use of the internet. Meta's methods, acts, and practices alleged herein, including Meta's actions taken to encourage young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to its Social Media Platforms, are therefore offensive to public policy.
- 939. Meta's aforesaid methods, acts, and practices as a result are unfair and thus are unlawful under the FBPA, including O.C.G.A. § 10-1-393(a) and (b).
- 940. The State of Georgia, by and through the Attorney General, is authorized to bring this action whether or not any person has actually been misled by Meta's unfair methods, acts, and practices.

- 943. The State of Hawai'i alleges that the aforesaid acts and practices of Meta in paragraphs above are unfair because they offend public policy and are oppressive, unethical, immoral, unscrupulous, and/or substantially injurious.
- 944. Meta's unfair or deceptive acts or practices described above constitute multiple, separate violations of the HIUDAP.

COUNT XV: DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE ILLINOIS CONSUMER FRAUD AND DECEPTIVE BUSINESS PRACTICES ACT, 815 ILCS 505/1 et seq.

- 946. The People of the State of Illinois reallege and incorporate herein by reference each of the allegations contained in paragraphs 1-850 above as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 947. In numerous instances in the course of trade or commerce, including through the means described in the allegations in paragraphs 53-835 above, Meta engaged in the following deceptive acts, practices, and omissions, with the intent that consumers rely on the deceptive acts, practices, and omissions:

- a. Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that Meta's Social Media Platforms are not psychologically or physically harmful for young users and are not designed to induce young users' compulsive and extended use, when they are in fact so designed;
- Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that Meta's Social Media Platforms are less addictive and/or less likely to result in psychological and physical harm for young users than its Social Media Platforms are in reality;

c. Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, through the

- publication of CSER reports

 , and through other communications, that the incidence or prevalence of negative or harmful user experiences on Meta's Social Media Platforms was lower than it actually was;
- d. Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that Meta prioritized young users' health and safety over maximizing profits, when in fact Meta subordinated young user health and safety to its goal of maximizing profits by prolonging young users' time spent on its Social Media Platforms;
- e. Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that Meta prevents under-13 users from using Instagram and/or Facebook when in fact Meta was aware that it does not prevent under-13 users from using Instagram and Facebook;
- f. Misrepresenting, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that Meta's collection of user data was not for the purpose of causing those users to become addicted to the Social Media Platforms, when in reality that was one of the purposes for which Meta collected user data; and
- g. Making other false and deceptive representations, as set forth in the allegations in paragraphs 53-835 above.
- 948. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, Meta engaged in unfair and deceptive acts or practices declared unlawful under Section 2 of the Illinois Consumer Fraud and

Deceptive Business Practices Act (Illinois Consumer Fraud Act), 815 ILCS 505/2, which states in relevant part:

Unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, including but not limited to the use or employment of practices, including but not limited to the use or employment of any deception fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation or the concealment, suppression or omission of any material fact, with intent that others rely upon the concealment, suppression or omission of such material fact, or the use or employment of any practice described in Section 2 of the "Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act", approved August 5, 1965, in the conduct of any trade or commerce are hereby declared unlawful whether any person has in fact been misled, deceived or damaged thereby.

COUNT XVI: UNFAIR ACTS OR PRACTICES BY META IN VIOLATION OF THE ILLINOIS CONSUMER FRAUD AND DECEPTIVE BUSINESS PRACTICES ACT, 815 ILCS 505/1 et seq.

- 949. The People of the State of Illinois reallege and incorporate herein by reference each of the allegations contained in paragraphs 1-850 above as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
- 950. Meta, in the course of trade or commerce, engaged in unfair acts and practices that caused young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to Meta's Social Media Platforms, including by:
 - a. Targeting its Social Media Platforms to young users while knowingly designing its Social Media Platforms to include features that Meta knew to be psychologically and physically harmful to young users—including features known to promote compulsive, prolonged, and unhealthy use by young users;
 - b. Utilizing Social Media Platform features that unfairly harm young users independently of any actions taken by third-party users of Meta's Platforms. These features include infinite scroll, ephemeral content features, autoplay, quantification and display of Likes, and disruptive alerts, all of which were unfairly utilized by Meta to extract additional time and attention from young users whose developing brains were not equipped to resist those manipulative tactics;

- c. Designing, developing, and deploying disruptive audiovisual and vibration notifications and alerts and ephemeral content features in a way that unfairly exploited young users' psychological vulnerabilities and cultivated a sense of "fear of missing out" in order to induce young users to spend more time than they would otherwise choose on Meta's Social Media Platforms;
- d. Algorithmically serving content to young users according to "variable reinforcement schedules," thereby manipulating dopamine releases in young users, unfairly inducing them to engage repeatedly with its products—much like a gambler at a slot machine; and
- e. Collecting the personal information of under-13 users of Instagram and Facebook without first obtaining verifiable parental consent.
- 951. Meta's deployment of manipulative and harmful features, both on their own and especially in combination, for use by young users is an unfair act or practice.
- 952. At all relevant times, Meta had a thorough understanding of the mental and physical harms and addiction suffered by young users of its Platforms. Instead of taking adequate measures to mitigate these damaging effects, Meta turned a blind eye to them, and persisted in exploiting young users' psychological vulnerabilities. Meta's acts and practices alleged herein are immoral, unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, including because they constitute knowing decisions causing unnecessary and unjustified harm to young users for Meta's financial gain.
- 953. Meta's acts and practices alleged herein also have caused and continue to cause substantial injury to consumers that could not be reasonably avoided. Young users could not have reasonably avoided injuries resulting from Meta's acts and practices, including because Meta misrepresented and failed to disclose the dangerous nature of its Social Media Platforms and because Meta utilized psychologically manipulative engagement-inducing features, knowing that young users are especially susceptible to those psychologically manipulative tactics.
- 954. Meta's acts and practices, including Meta's actions taken to encourage young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to its Social Media Platforms, are offensive to public policy, as defined by statute and common law. The Illinois legislature has expressed a

1	public policy goal of protecting youth from the harms of addiction and related afflictions. See,
2	e.g., Juvenile Court Act of 1987, Article IV ("Addicted Minors"), 705 ILCS 405/4-1 et seq.;
3	Juvenile Drug Court Treatment Act, 705 ILCS 410 (recognizing public policy goal of reducing
4	juvenile addiction to drugs); Illinois Gambling Act, 230 ILCS 10 et seq. (recognizing policy
5	issues related to "[c]ompulsive gambling" and prohibiting minors from casino gambling). The
6	protection of minors from the dangers of addiction is a well-established objective underlying
7	public policy in Illinois; Meta's acts and practices alleged herein, including Meta's actions taken
8	to encourage young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to its Social Media
9	Platforms, are therefore offensive to public policy.
10	955. In addition, the public policy of protecting youth's private information and
11	requiring parental consent prior to collecting this information is established in COPPA and the
12	COPPA Rule.
13	956. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, Meta engaged in unfair acts
14	or practices declared unlawful under Section 2 of the Illinois Consumer Fraud and Deceptive
15	Business Practices Act (Illinois Consumer Fraud Act), 815 ILCS 505/2, which states in relevant
16	part:
17	Unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, including but not limited to the use or employment of
18	any deception fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation or the concealment, suppression or omission of
19	any material fact, with intent that others rely upon the concealment, suppression or omission of such material fact, or the
20	use or employment of any practice described in Section 2 of the "Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act", approved August 5,
21	1965, in the conduct of any trade or commerce are hereby declared unlawful whether any person has in fact been misled, deceived or
22	damaged thereby.
23
24
25
26
27
28

1	c. Representing, through the publication of CSER reports
2	, and through other
3	communications, that the incidence or prevalence of negative or harmful user
4	experiences on Meta's Social Media Platforms was lower than it actually was;
5	d. Representing that Meta prioritized young users' health and safety over maximizing
6	profits, when in fact Meta subordinated young user health and safety to its goal of
7	maximizing profits by prolonging young users' time spent on its Social Media
8	Platforms;
9	e. Representing that Meta prevents under-13 users from using Instagram and/or
10	Facebook when in fact Meta was aware that it does not prevent under-13 users from
11	using Instagram and Facebook;
12	f. Representing that Meta's collection of user data was not for the purpose of causing
13	those users to become addicted to the Social Media Platforms, when in reality that was
14	one of the purposes for which Meta collected user data; and
15	g. Making other false and deceptive representations, as set forth in the allegations in
16	paragraphs 53-835 above.
17	960. By engaging in the acts and practices alleged herein, Meta engaged in unfair or
18	deceptive acts or practices declared unlawful under Section 2 of the Illinois Consumer Fraud and
19	Deceptive Business Practices Act (Illinois Consumer Fraud Act), 815 ILCS 505/2, which states in
20	relevant part:
21	Unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or
22	practices, including but not limited to the use or employment of any deception fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation or
23	the concealment, suppression or omission of any material fact, with intent that others rely upon the concealment, suppression or
24	omission of such material fact, or the use or employment of any practice described in Section 2 of the "Uniform Deceptive Trade
25	Practices Act", approved August 5, 1965, in the conduct of any trade or commerce are hereby declared unlawful whether any
26	person has in fact been misled, deceived or damaged thereby. (emphasis added).

10	incorporates herein by reference each of the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 850
11	above as though fully alleged in this cause of action.
12	1016. Minnesota Statutes section 325D.44, subdivision 1(13) prohibits any person from
13	engaging in "unfair methods of competition" or "unfair or unconscionable acts or practices."
14	Minn. Stat. § 325D.44, subd. 1(13).41
15	1017. "[A]n unfair method of competition or an unfair or unconscionable act or practice
16	is any method of competition, act, or practice that: (1) offends public policy as established by the
17	statutes, rules, or common law of Minnesota; (2) is unethical, oppressive, or unscrupulous; or (3)
18	is substantially injurious to consumers." ⁴²
19	1018. In numerous instances in the course of business, vocation, or occupation, Meta
20	violated Minnesota Statutes section 325D.44, subdivision 1(13) by engaging in unfair or
21	unconscionable acts, practices, and omissions that were unethical, oppressive, or unscrupulous
22	and/or substantially injurious to consumers. Those acts, practices, and omissions include, but are
23	not limited to:
24
25	41 2023 Minn. Laws ch. 57, art. 4, sect. 6 (to be codified at Minn. Stat. § 325D.44, subd. 1(13)), took effect on August 1, 2023. Therefore, the relevant time for the State of Minnesota's
26	claim under Count XXVII pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 325D.44, subdivision 1(13) began on August 1, 2023, and continues through the present.
27	⁴² 2023 Minn. Laws ch. 57, art. 4, sect. 17 (to be codified at Minn. Stat. § 325F.69, subd.
28	8); see 2023 Minn. Laws ch. 57, art. 4, sect. 7 (to be codified at Minn. Stat. § 325D.44, subd. 2(b)).

- a. Meta's targeting its Social Media Platforms to young users while knowingly designing its Social Media Platforms to include features that Meta knew to be psychologically and physically harmful to young users—including features known to promote compulsive, prolonged, and unhealthy use by young users;
- b. Meta utilizing Social Media Platform features that unfairly and/or unconscionably harm young users independent of any actions taken by third-party users of Meta's Platforms. These features include infinite scroll, ephemeral content features, autoplay, quantification and display of "Likes," and disruptive alerts, all of which were unfairly and/or unconscionably utilized by Meta to extract additional time and attention from young users whose developing brains were not equipped to resist those manipulative tactics;
- c. Meta designing, developing, and deploying disruptive audiovisual and vibration notifications and alerts and ephemeral content features in a way that unfairly and/or unconscionably exploited young users' psychological vulnerabilities and cultivated a sense of "fear of missing out" in order to induce young users to spend more time than they would otherwise choose on Meta's Social Media Platforms;
- d. Meta algorithmically serving content to young users, according to "variable reinforcement schedules," thereby manipulating dopamine releases in its young users, unfairly or unconscionably inducing them to engage repeatedly with its products—much like a gambler at a slot machine; and
- e. Meta's deployment of manipulative and harmful features, both on its own and in combination, for use by young users.
- 1019. These acts, practices, and omissions caused young users' compulsive and unhealthy use of and addiction to Meta's Social Media Platforms. At all relevant times, Meta had a thorough understanding of the mental and physical harms and addiction suffered by young users of its Platforms. Instead of taking adequate measures to mitigate these damaging effects, Meta turned a blind eye to them, and persisted in exploiting young users' psychological vulnerabilities. Meta's acts, practices, and omissions alleged herein are unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, including because they constitute knowing decisions causing unnecessary and unjustified harm to young users for Meta's financial gain.

- 1020. Meta's acts, practices, and omissions alleged herein also have caused and continue to cause substantial injury to consumers that could not be reasonably avoided. Young users could not have reasonably avoided injuries resulting from Meta's acts, practices, and omissions, including because Meta misrepresented and failed to disclose the dangerous nature of its Social Media Platforms and because Meta utilized psychologically manipulative engagement-inducing features, knowing that young users are especially susceptible to those psychologically manipulative tactics.
- 1021. Due to Meta's unfair and unconscionable acts, practices, and omissions described in this Complaint, consumers are suffering, have suffered, and will continue to suffer substantial injury.
- 1022. Meta's unfair and unconscionable acts, practices, and omissions described in this Complaint constitute multiple separate violations of Minnesota Statutes section 325D.44, subdivision 1(13).
